JAPANESE BOMB CORREGIDOR FOR FIVE HOURS

BRITISH CONVOY SINKS 3 U-BOATS IN 5-DAY FIGHT

60 AIRCRAFT BLAST AT FORT OFF MANILA; 3 SHOT DOWN

13 Defenders Killed, 35 Injured, Army Announces —Ground Attacks Against MacArthur's Forces on Mainland Slacken.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The War Department reported today a five-hour Japanese air attack on Corregidor Island at the entrance of Manila Bay. It said at least three enemy planes were shot down.

At least 60 bombers took part in the attack, a communique said, but failed to inflict material damage on the fortification.

American casualties from the attack, which took place yesterday, were put at 13 killed and 35 wounded.

Meanwhile there was a slackening of enemy ground attacks on Gen. MacArthur's main force on Luzon but Japanese planes were active.

Text of Communique.

The communique, based on reports received up to 9:30 a. m., eastern standard time (8:30 a. m., St. Louis time), said:

"1: Philippine theater: Corregidor Island in Manila Bay sustained a five-hour aerial bombardment yesterday. The enemy air force attacking the island was composed of at least 60 bombers. There was no material damage to installations on the island.

"Our casualties resulting from this attack were 13 killed and 35 wounded. At least three enemy planes were shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

"There was a marked lessening of enemy ground attacks. American and Philippine troops were consolidated in new positions, where organized resistance to Jap-

Clare S. McArdle, Divorcee Found Dead in Chicago; Poison in Glasses

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

CLARE S. McARDLE and MRS. NANCY WASSMAN, who were found dead in a Chicago restaurant early today.

Theory Is Clayton Man Did Not Know About It — Waiter Discovers Bodies After Pheasant, Champagne Dinner.

Clare S. McArdle, of 512 South Meramec avenue, Clayton, vice-president and sales manager of the Missouri Portland Cement Co., and Mrs. Nancy Wassman of Chicago, a divorcee, were found dead early today in a private dining room of L'Aiglon, an expensive French restaurant in the night-life district just north of the Loop in Chicago.

In the bottom of hollow-stemmed champagne glasses and in a small woman's compact police found a crystalline substance which, on examination, proved to be a deadly poison.

There was no face powder in the compact, just the poison. Deputy Coroner Anthony C. Prusinski said he believed Mrs. Wassman had brought the poison along and that McArdle knew nothing of it. In Mrs. Wassman's purse was a note from McArdle asking Mrs. Wassman to meet him at the restaurant and telling her he would then take a midnight train back to St. Louis.

Bodies on the Floor.

The bodies were found shortly after 1 a. m. by Gus Moresi, a waiter. McArdle had apparently fallen off a chair and was lying against a buffet. Mrs. Wassman, dressed in a red evening gown, was sprawled across his lap.

The waiter told police the pair had come to the restaurant about 9:30 p. m., had several drinks of whisky, then ordered a pheasant dinner with champagne. About two hours later, the waiter said, when he asked if they wanted more champagne, McArdle turned to his companion and asked, "do you want a demitasse, honey?" She said she did.

McArdle was 45 years old and married. His wife, Mrs. Lucille McArdle, was under the care of a physician at her home today. Mrs. Wassman, 34, was born in Hungary and came to this country 19 years ago. She operated a beauty shop. Police said they learned she

SENATE TO BEGIN DEBATE ON PRICE BILL NEXT WEEK

Measure Completed in Committee Said to Strike at Profiteering, Speculation, Hoarding.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—A flexible price control measure—designed to save the Government billions of dollars and protect the public from soaring living costs—was ready today for Senate consideration.

Affecting virtually every phase of the nation's commercial life, the bill seemed sure to arouse as heated a controversy as did similar legislation which cleared the House last Nov. 28.

Members of the Senate Banking Committee worked until after dark last night to complete their draft of the bill, although the first session of the Seventy-seventh Congress had ended. Congress reconvenes Monday, but leaders indicated that Senate debate on the measure would not begin before Wednesday.

Maximums May Be Fixed.

Senator Brown (Dem.), Michigan, who will be floor manager for the bill, said it would aid the war effort by stabilizing prices of everything from "guns to butter" and would strike directly at profiteering, speculation, inflation and hoarding.

President Roosevelt asked Congress more than six months ago for price control legislation. Meanwhile, Leon Henderson has been acting price administrator, through executive orders.

Brown said the bill prepared for Senate consideration was stronger than that passed by the House because it "contains much more definite authority" and seeks to hold

ENGLISH LOSE TWO ESCORTS, TWO OF 30 CARGO SHIPS

Two Big Nazi Planes Shot Down in Atlantic—Admiralty Lists Loss of Two Warships to Mediterranean Mines.

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The loss of four British warships was acknowledged by the Admiralty today but, breaking a long-standing rule, it told the British people in detail the price Germany is paying in attacking Atlantic convoys and the Royal Navy's success is guarding that vital bridge of ships.

Two of the lost British warships were the 7175-ton cruiser Neptune and the destroyer Kandahar, which, a communique said, went down in the Mediterranean after striking mines.

The other two were the destroyer Stanley, a former American warship, and the auxiliary warship Audacity, the former 5600-ton German motorship Hannover which the British captured and converted into a warplane-bearing convoy guardian.

Sunk by Torpedoes.

These two were sunk by torpedoes in a five-day running battle against German submarines raiding a convoy, the Admiralty said, but it declared the Germans lost at least three submarines and at least two of their big, far-ranging Focke-Wulf bombers in the attack and succeeded only in sinking two merchant ships, together only 6193 tons, out of more than 30 freighters in the convoy.

The lengthy communique was issued partly to show that "week after week our convoys continue

EX-GOV. RIVERS INDICTED, ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

ATLANTA, Jan. 3 (AP).—Former Gov. E. D. Rivers was indicted today on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy to defraud the state.

Several other state officials during the administration of Rivers were indicted by a Fulton County (Atlanta) grand jury on charges of attempted bribery, conspiracy to defraud and various felonies.

THREE ARMY FLYERS KILLED IN FORT KNOX PLANE CRASHES

FORT KNOX, Ky., Jan. 3 (AP).—Three Army officers were killed and a fourth injured in two separate airplane crashes today at Fort Knox.

Authorities listed the dead as: Second Lieut. Roy L. Drew, Rothschild, Wis.; First Lieut. Addie J. Hogan, Ruston, La., and Second Lieut. Wilbur Camp Jr., Lafayette, La.

The injured man was First Lieut. Robert W. Harner, Fairdale, Ky.

Post authorities said both planes were attempting to land. The one in which Lieut. Drew was killed and Lieut. Harner injured struck a power line, Army officials said. The cause of the other crash has not been determined.

The accidents occurred a few minutes apart.

RUSSIANS TIGHTEN PINCERS BY GAIN BELOW MOZHAISK

Capture of Maloyaroslavets Further Imperils Nazis—15,000 Germans Reported Killed in 6 Days.

MOSCOW, Jan. 3 (AP). — With Maloyaroslavets added to the lengthening list of recaptured cities on the Moscow front, the Russians today increased their pressure on Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of the capital and center of a steadily closing pincers.

Maloyaroslavets, where the Russians started Napoleon's retreat from Moscow by defeating the French invaders in battle Oct. 24, 1812, was among several towns and villages occupied yesterday, an early day Soviet communique said.

Later a special communique reported more than 15,000 German officers and men were killed in a six-day period of the winter warfare from Dec. 26 to 31.

The Government newspaper Izvestia, reporting the Germans were retreating westward from Maloyaroslavets, said 3000 Nazis had been killed in that sector alone since Christmas day. A Soviet general in charge of operations there was quoted as saying "The Germans abandoned tanks on railway cars. At every step we found large fuel and ammunition dumps. . . . The routes of our advance were lined with German graves."

(A British radio report heard by CBS said German communications lines north and south of Novgorod had been cut by the Red Army in new operations toward that town 100 miles south and slightly east of Leningrad.)

The Soviet thrust to Maloyaroslavets, 30 miles south of the German advance position, and a previous drive to Staritsa, 80 miles northwest, left the Germans facing the prospect of encirclement or a retreat of more than 80 miles from Mozhaisk to Vyazma, 140 miles from Moscow.

Admiral of U. S. Asiatic Fleet to Direct Naval Operations in Southwest Pacific—Chiang in Charge of Forces Sent to China.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The White House announced today the unification of all anti-Axis sea, land and air forces in the southwest Pacific area under British Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell as Supreme Commander.

At the same time Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the United States Army Air Corps, was named Deputy Supreme Commander for that region.

Under the direction of Gen. Wavell, Admiral Thomas C. Hart, Commander of the American Asiatic fleet, will be in charge of all naval forces in the area. Gen. Sir Henry Pownall, the new British commander at Singapore, will be Chief of Staff to Gen. Wavell, who will take over his unified command in the near future.

Chiang to Command in China.

The White House announcement, issued by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain, disclosed further that China's generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, had accepted the supreme command over all land and air forces of the 26 "United Nations" which are now or may in the future be operating in the Chinese theater, including "initially such portions of Indo-China and Thailand as may become available to troops of the United Nations."

American and British representatives will serve on his joint headquarters planning staff.

The United States, Britain, Russia and China agreed with 22 other anti-Axis nations yesterday to use their full military and economic might against those Axis powers with which each is at war and further pledged that they would not make a separate peace.

Selection of Gen. Wavell, 58-year-old hero of the first Libyan campaign and now commander for India and Burma, was made at the suggestion of American and British chiefs of staff and was concurred in by The Netherlands Government, Australia and New Zealand.

Jurisdiction of Commander.

The announcement was made simultaneously in the capitals concerned. There was no precise definition of the southwest Pacific area where Gen. Wavell will be "supreme commander," but it was authoritatively said to include the general region of Singapore, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies, and the Philippines where Gen. Douglas MacArthur is leading American-Filipino troops in a dogged battle against the Japanese.

Maj. Gen. Brett, a deputy chief

GERMAN GENERAL, 5000 PRISONERS SEIZED IN BARDIA, BRITISH DECLARE

Attackers Report Only 360 Casualties in Capture of Libyan Stronghold — Navy and Air Force Support Land Drive.

CAIRO, Jan. 3 (AP).—German Maj. Gen. Schmidt, chief administrative staff officer of the Nazi "Panzer Gruppe Afrika," and more than 5000 Axis soldiers were captured at Bardia, it was announced officially today.

British losses in occupation of the port yesterday, a communique said, were only 60 killed and 300 wounded.

It said 1150 British prisoners held by the Axis were freed.

The communique told how the holdout garrison, which threatened to become a thorn in the British flank as Tobruk had been to the Axis, surrendered unconditionally under pressure of a land, sea and air assault.

The communique said South African police, Kafir rifles and Durban light infantry, backed up by British tanks and artillery, Polish field artillery and New Zealand cavalry, launched a bayonet attack New Year's night on defenses of the stronghold.

Unconditional Surrender.

"Rather than face a repetition of this bold, skillfully organized attack," the report continued, "the enemy decided to surrender unconditionally.

"The whole operation was magnificently supported by His Majesty's ships, which heavily bombarded enemy concentrations and artillery positions in the forward area and also engaged with equal effect many objectives to the rear of the enemy main defenses.

"By continuous activity in most inclement weather conditions, our air force also made an invaluable contribution to the success of the operation."

So fast was the British charge, it said, that the defenders were unable to "carry out any substantial demolitions," but there was as yet no estimate of the British booty.

The Germans are known to have lost four Generals in the Libyan campaign—Schmidt and Gen. von Ravenstein, who was captured at Rezegh, and Maj. Gens. Neumann-Silkow and Suemmermann, division commanders, whose graves were found at Derna.

Clash Near Agedabia.

In addition to Gen. Schmidt, one of Gen. Erwin Rommel's chief aids, the communique said the Germans lost three other officers and 45 other men when a Nazi column, including armored cars, was forced to retreat after suffering losses in a clash in the Agedabia region.

Two anti-tank guns were taken there, the communique said, and 10 Axis tanks were found abandoned in good condition during "clearance" of the Cirenaican battlefield.

Troops of the British Eighth Army entered Bardia almost a year after the stronghold was taken in the first imperial offensive through Cirenaica.

In last winter's operations the British attack was launched shortly before dawn Jan. 3, and Australian troops entered the town at dusk Jan. 4. In the present operations, the attack started just before dawn Dec. 31 and South African units entered in midmorning Jan. 2.

Similar Tactic.

The tactic employed was much the same. Air bombardments this time were heavier than last, for more planes were available. More than 80 bombers participated in one attack.

Just before dawn Wednesday British engineers crept out and cut the barbed wire perimeter and filled in tank traps. A feint was made on another part of the perimeter to divert the enemy's attention.

As dawn broke, British tanks tore through the gaps. Last year only two openings were made, but this time there were six. They were in the same general vicinity—on the southeast side of a 25-mile long arc of barbed wire and tank trap lines which formed the perimeter.

South African forces followed the tanks. The big steel vehicles pushed to the right and left behind the line, rolling up the defenders.

Run Into Pillboxes.

Bardia might have fallen more quickly except that the attacking force ran into several pillboxes which the Germans had built and which they did not know existed.

The British flag was hoisted from the municipal building on the town's main street, originally called the Via Benito Mussolini.

The Australians on first entering Bardia changed it to Ned Kelly street, for a famous Australian bandit who is the counterpart of Robin Hood. The British on taking over from them called it Churchill street. The Germans named it Adolf Hitler strasse. The South Africans yesterday chalked up Smuts avenue, after the famous South African leader, Jan Christiaan Smuts.

180,000 REPORTED MURDERED BY NAZI GROUPS IN CROATIA

Serbian Archbishop Asserts 163 in One Town Were Tortured, Bound, Thrown Into Pit and Bombed.

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The Archbishop of the Serbian Orthodox Church reported yesterday that more than 180,000 persons had been massacred in the Axis-created state of Croatia since the fall of Yugoslavia.

His statement, made public by the Yugoslav legation, said that in the village of Korito 163 persons were tortured, tied into bundles of three and thrown into a pit by Nazi-supported elements.

"When it was found that some were still alive, the Ustashi (Croat extremists) threw bombs among them to finish them off," the Archbishop reported. "Eventually 226 bodies were consigned to the pit and subsequently petrol was poured into it and set afire."

Between July 25 and July 30, last, more than 500 persons at Krupa were cut to pieces with knives and scythes and the bodies thrown into a river, the Archbishop said.

In one area, he asserted, "blood was shed in torrents. Murdered Serbs were cut to pieces so it was impossible to identify them. Only those remained alive who succeeded in escaping to the hills."

In the vicinity of Stolac "an entire village was wiped out. . . . Every house was razed. . . . One can see every day 30 to 40 corpses floating along the river, often members of a whole family tied together."

"The usual tortures," the Archbishop related, "were beatings, severing of limbs, stubbing of eyes, breaking of bones and pushing needles under the nails of prisoners' hands."

He cited the case of a clergyman "who was ordered to dig a grave for his student son who had been tortured to death in front of him."

"Then the parent was made to read the burial service," the Archbishop added. "Three times he fainted but was revived each time and finally tortured and murdered on the same spot.

"Four men in another village were crucified on the doors of their homes before being mutilated and killed."

BRITISH CONVOY SINKS 3 U-BOATS IN 5-DAY FIGHT

to arrive, bringing vital supplies to our shores" and partly to counter German claims that nine ships aggregating 37,000 tons and an aircraft carrier had been sunk in the attack, which, the Admiralty said, lasted from Dec. 17 to Dec. 21.

"It is known that at least three of the attacking U-boats were sunk, since prisoners of war from these three U-boats were taken," the Admiralty said. "Two of the German long-range Focke-Wulf aircraft were shot down into the sea and a third was so severely damaged it may not have regained its base."

The convoy was led by Vice-Admiral Raymond Fitzmaurice.

"The attack on the convoy developed Dec. 17 and before noon that day the first U-boat was sunk," the Admiralty said. "The U-boat was sighted on the surface and sunk by gunfire from ships of the escort.

"Prisoners taken from this U-boat stated it had been forced to the surface by damage inflicted in depth charge attacks earlier in the day."

Two German bombers attacked in the afternoon, but were driven off by the Audacity's gunners, and another U-boat was sent to the bottom the following day in an action in which the Stanley participated, the Admiralty said.

Some hours later the Stanley itself was torpedoed and sunk. Other escort vessels countered with heavy depth charges and another U-boat was forced to the surface.

U-Boat Rammed.

"It was rammed and sunk by H. M. S. Stork, some prisoners being taken," the official account went on.

Two Focke-Wulf aircraft were shot down Dec. 19 and a third was badly damaged and driven off by the Audacity, the Admiralty said, and the Germans carried on the attack with submarines.

The Audacity was torpedoed and sunk in the hunt for the surviving U-boats, which last attacked Dec. 21.

"An American-built Liberator aircraft of the coastal command of the R. A. F. joined the convoy at this stage," the Admiralty said, "and played a conspicuous part in the final series of counterattacks which eventually freed the convoy from further pursuit.

"Although no prisoners were taken as a result of many depth charge attacks carried out during the last two days of the attack, it is possible they achieved further successes against the enemy's U-boats."

The Admiralty said "German communiques laid great stress on the scale and duration of the attack made on this convoy."

"They claimed nine merchant ships of 37,000 tons were sunk out of this convoy in addition to naval units sunk and two more merchant ships damaged. This claim of the enemy was an exaggeration of over 600 per cent."

British Losses Since 1939.

The British thus far have announced the loss of 12 cruisers and 57 destroyers, including the Neptune, Kandahar and Stanley, since the war began in 1939. These include Dominion as well as British ships.

(Jane's "Fighting Ships" shows that the British, at the beginning of the war, had 75 cruisers either in service or building and the Royal Australian Navy had six cruisers. Jane's also lists 207 destroyers for the British, either in service or building at that time, seven for Australia and eight for Canada, a total of 222. The British obtained 50 additional destroyers from the United States after the start of the war.)

"Statements made by the enemy indicate some of the ship's company of H. M. S. Neptune have been picked up and are prisoners of war," said the Admiralty. The greater part of the crew of the Kandahar was rescued, however, it said.

The Neptune normally carried 550 officers and men, the Kandahar about 180. There was no report on British crew losses in the Atlantic sinkings.

The Italian radio quoted a survivor of the Neptune today as saying the warship was carrying 200 New Zealanders in addition to a crew of 500 men. The radio said only four boats could be swung out and two of them disappeared in the waves. Capt. Roy O'Connor, the ship commander, was said to have died after four days in an open boat.

The Italian high command reported Christmas day that "in the Central Mediterranean British sailors from the ship Neptune, mentioned (in an Italian communique) Dec. 19, were rescued. They were found near our shores, brought in by the tide."

The Dec. 19 communique had told of attacks by Axis planes in which five British cruisers were torpedoed.

DELAY IN FRENCH WAR GUILT CASE FORECAST

Nazis Report Resignation of Head of Court Named to Try Ex-Leaders.

BERLIN, Jan. 3 — (Official broadcast recorded by AP).—Further postponement of France's long-delayed "war guilt" trials was forecast today by German news dispatches from Vichy reporting the resignation of the President of the Special Riom Court created to handle the cases.

The Berlin radio declared its information from Riom was that the trials now were to start Feb. 17, the delay being necessary to enable a new president to study the records.

The president of the court, Henri Lagarde, was said to have given ill health as a reason for resigning, but the Nazi correspondent said Vichy circles "do not quite believe this version."

"Postponement of the trial by some weeks already has led to the belief that influential forces are at work trying to postpone the trial until after the war," the German dispatch said.

(Beginning of the war guilt trials recently was fixed for Jan. 15. Former Premiers Edouard Daladier and Leon Blum and Gen. Maurice Gamelin are among the pre-armistice French leaders facing trial.)

CHINESE REPORT GAINING EDGE IN CHANGSHA BATTLE

Army Says 15,000 Japanese Were Killed or Wounded in Counterattacks, Artillery Fire.

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Jan. 3 (AP).—China officially claimed today a favorable and decisive turn in the third battle for Changsha, capital of Hunan Province, an Army communique reporting 15,000 Japanese troops had been killed or wounded during Chinese counterattacks launched yesterday morning.

The "fierce battle of annihilation" still is raging, the communique said.

It reported most of the Japanese casualties were caused by tremendous artillery fire laid down by the Chinese, who were reported pressing the enemy from all directions.

A force of Japanese in civilian clothes discovered at the eastern gate of Changsha was "machine-gunned and totally wiped out by the gallant defenders" the communique added.

Japan already has suffered two humiliating and serious defeats in attempts to capture and hold Changsha, a city of 300,000. Those defeats were in October, 1939, and last September.

(A hint that the Japanese may be preparing for another setback at Changsha was seen in the Tokyo broadcast of a Japanese dispatch from Hankow quoting military quarters as saying the Japanese "may not occupy Changsha permanently as it was the purpose to crush Chinese resistance" in driving on the city. The Japanese claimed they occupied Changsha last night.)

In the present battle, the main Chinese forces now have been brought to bear on the invaders, the communique said, "from all directions." Previous reports have told of Chinese assaults between Changsha and Yochow, Japanese base 100 miles to the north, which threatened the Japanese rear.

The Chinese said yesterday the Japanese apparently were launching a general offensive against China.

"We welcome it," a spokesman said. "This enables us to dissipate the enemy's strength. Both sides must suffer, but the Japanese are at a disadvantage. They cannot afford to lose as much manpower as China."

EDEN TO BROADCAST TO U. S. Tomorrow.

Address to Be Heard at 2:15 P. M.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will be heard on a radio broadcast to the United States tomorrow (2:15 p. m. St. Louis time).

The speech, Eden's first to America since returning from conferences with Premier Joseph Stalin in Russia, is expected to last 15 minutes.

BRITISH IN MALAYA BEAT OFF JAP SEA AND LAND THRUSTS

Four Barges Sunk, Steamer Hit, Barring Landing — English Admit Penetration of Kuantan.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 3 (AP).—British troops, fighting to hold their positions in northwestern Malaya, beat off three sharp Japanese attacks by land and one by sea yesterday, but on the east coast the invaders pushed into the outskirts of Kuantan, only 190 miles from Singapore, a communique announced today.

The statement said the Japanese suffered 400 to 500 casualties in the land assaults on the Perak front in the northwest.

Four Japanese barges were sunk and a small steamer was set afire by British artillerymen in frustrating the new landing attempt in lower Perak yesterday, the communique said and "the remainder of the enemy craft withdrew."

Threat to Airdrome.

"At Kuantan the enemy made some progress and have infiltrated into the outskirts of the town in their endeavor to seize the airdrome," the announcement added.

(The Japanese announced 48 hours before that they had occupied Kuantan Dec. 31.)

The Japanese maintained their night-by-night aerial thrusts at Singapore, attacking various targets in the British base.

"Little damage was done," the communique said. "Seven casualties have been reported."

R. A. F. Reconnaissance.

British headquarters said there was nothing of outstanding importance to report from "normal Royal Air Force reconnaissance activities continued throughout yesterday."

In referring to the Perak fighting, communiques have not defined the front since it was stated Dec. 29 that the British were battling the Japanese below Ipoh, a tin mining center 290 miles northwest of Singapore.

Unofficial information, however, indicated the defense line was anchored at the mouth of the Perak River, about 50 miles southwest of Ipoh.

The Japanese are believed to have assembled fishing boats and other small native craft seized at the Island of Penang and points on the mainland west coast for Perak landing operations.

FIDELITY ASSURANCE FIRM'S PLEA TO REORGANIZE GRANTED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 3 (AP).—The petition of the $25,000,000 Fidelity Assurance Association of Wheeling, W. Va., for reorganization under the Federal Bankruptcy Act was granted today by United States District Judge Ben Moore.

The company, which, under the name of Fidelity Investment Association, sold annuity contracts in 27 states, filed its reorganization petition last June.

States represented at the long jurisdictional hearing were West Virginia, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee, Maryland, Kansas, Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

The petition was attacked by counsel for several of the states. Among other things, it was contended that the securities involved were mostly held outside the Southern West Virginia Federal District and that Judge Moore lacked jurisdiction.

In granting the reorganization petition, Judge Moore in effect held his court had the right to hear the petition.

RIFLE FIRED INTO HOSPITAL ROOM DURING AN OPERATION

Marksman Not Found; Glass Shattered, but Patient, Doctors and Nurses Escape Injury.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 3 (AP).—An unidentified rifleman shot several times into an operating room while an appendectomy was in progress here Thursday afternoon, it was disclosed yesterday.

Doctors at Georgia Baptist Hospital said the first shot cracked a heavy plate glass window. Several others fired five minutes later shattered the window.

Glass was strewn over the operating room, but doctors, nurses and the patient, a 15-year-old girl, escaped injury behind the protection of a large glass windbreaker. The patient's name was not disclosed, but she was reported to be doing well.

W. D. Barker, hospital superintendent, said he had no theory as to why the shots were fired and couldn't say whether they were aimed at some person or were the work of a vandal.

Bomber With Landing Gear Locked Circles for Hours Till Crew Jumps

All 5 Parachute Safely to San Diego Field—4-Motored Plane Lands in Sea Without Serious Damage.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 3 (AP).—From a big Army bomber came the question by radio: "Any of you pilots ever land a ship with one wheel down and one half way up?"

An excited group of flight experts, summoned hurriedly, gathered in the control tower at San Diego's Lindbergh Field.

No, nobody there had ever tried to bring a plane down that way.

Five men in the four-motored B-24 cruised helplessly over the San Diego area. The landing gear had been damaged in a take-off, leaving the left wheel locked in a down position and the right one jammed at an angle of 45 degrees.

"Try rocking and jogging the ship," someone on the ground advised. That didn't work. Other remedies were suggested, but they, too, failed.

"How much gas have you got?" the flyers were asked. The pilot figured he had enough to last until 9 or 9:30 p. m. It was then about 3 o'clock.

The fuel supply dwindled as the craft circled about.

"Use your own discretion and land or jump," the ground advisers radioed. "If you do not elect to try a landing, let the crew out one at a time over the field and the last time you go around it, set the automatic pilot level on a west heading. . . ."

This meant for the pilot to drop off the crew over the field, head the plane to sea and then jump himself.

Then came the time for decision. One motor cut out. The gas supply was exhausted.

The Navy and Coast Guard stood ready with crash boats.

One by one the five airmen parachuted safely.

The plane came down at sea near Imperial Beach, but escaped serious damage.

Names of the five flyers were not released.

anese attacks will be intensified.

"Enemy airplanes were active in the region occupied by our ground forces.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Tokyo Reports Sea Attack.

The Japanese news agency Domei said the fortress of Corregidor was attacked simultaneously "by Japanese land and naval forces," and also said Gen. MacArthur's forces were putting up fierce resistance in the Batan area northwest of Manila.

The United States Army's morning communique was the first official word issued on the Philippine struggle since yesterday's announcement of the fall of Manila and the Cavite naval base nearby. Even though news was lacking, military quarters here believed that MacArthur and his men were in a position to keep up a prolonged fight and make Japan pay dearly.

These sources pictured Gen. MacArthur's withdrawal from Manila and consolidation of his limited forces north of the capital as a key development in the delaying action. They termed it the best maneuver open to him from the viewpoint of continuing the battle.

Situation of Defenders.

Behind the "strong positions" said to have been taken up yesterday, the American-Filipino Army is now believed able to fall back, if need be, slowly and in good order to the protection of the guns of the Manila Bay fortifications.

The exact location of the new defense lines was not disclosed, but within the area remaining in control of the defenders north of Manila Bay is an important highway leading westward to the rugged, otherwise trackless Batan Province, the link with the fortress of Corregidor and its subsidiary fortifications.

Also within the defense lines, which extend in an arc possibly 200 miles long from Manila Bay to the South China sea coast, are the Olongapo Naval Base and possibly Fort Stotsenburg and Clark Field.

Favored by Rugged Terrain.

In territory left to them the defenders are favored by some of the most rugged terrain in the Philippines, varied by the swamps of the Pampanga River mouth.

On the slopes of Mount Mariveles, which dominates the Batan Province Peninsula, American troops repeatedly have carried out peacetime maneuvers anticipating the wartime development now shaping up—retirement toward the Corregidor strongholds.

There was speculation that the provisional Philippine capital might have been transferred to Malolos, 25 miles north of Manila, the seat of Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo's insurgent Government in 1899. Military headquarters of Gen. MacArthur's troops was believed to be at Fort Mills, on Corregidor Island.

Outlook for Supply Line.

No matter how long the Philippine Army holds out, it was believed that the United States could maintain supply and communications lines to the southwestern Pacific.

Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, said that fall of the islands would not mean that America would be cut off from the Dutch East Indies and Singapore. He pointed out that there was a long way around, through the South Pacific.

This route would not be without dangers to American naval and merchant vessels, but could still be kept open to carry planes, tanks and troops to the strategic Dutch islands. The Dutch have said they could continue their damaging forays against Japanese sea lanes "provided we get planes, planes and more planes."

Signs of Co-ordination Already.

George and other legislators took announcements that American naval units were operating in East Indies waters now to indicate that close co-ordination of defensive forces there already had been effected.

Sixteen members of the United States diplomatic and consular service were reported to have been in or near Manila after the outbreak of war with Japan. Whether any or all of them remained in the capital when the Japanese marched in has not been announced here.

The State Department had no list of other American citizens in Manila, since Americans were not required to register at the consulate there, and many have come and gone since the war began.

JAPANESE REPORT MINDANAO TAKEN

TOKYO, Jan. 3.—(Official broadcast recorded by AP).—A simultaneous attack on the Manila Bay fortress or Corregidor by Japanese land and naval forces was reported today by Domei news agency.

At the same time Japanese planes were said to be keeping up attacks on ships transporting United States and Philippine forces from the Luzon mainland to the island stronghold 27 miles across the bay from Manila.

Other of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's fighting forces were reported putting up a desperate resistance in the Batan area northwest of Manila.

Domei did not elaborate on its report that it had "learned from the Japanese army headquarters on Luzon" that Corregidor was "subjected to joint attack by Japanese land and naval forces."

(There was no intimation whether mention of land forces meant a Japanese attempt to cross from Manila in landing barges or small boats. Neither did Domei specify the nature of the naval forces said to be in action against the powerful fortress.)

The Japan Times and Advertiser reported, meanwhile, that Japanese forces had completed occupation of Mindanao, second largest of the Philippine islands, where landings had been made at Davao.

(This report said nothing of Zamboanga, a United States Naval Station at the tip of a peninsula jutting southwest from Mindanao.)

The newspaper predicted that guerrilla operations against the Japanese might continue for some time, but said Japan's success on Luzon would relieve large forces for increased pressure toward Singapore.

A Japanese army spokesman predicted that American resistance northwest of the Philippine capitol would be broken and the defense forces wiped out within a short time and said the Japanese occupation of Manila yesterday meant "complete success of Japanese forces in Luzon."

A Tokyo broadcast said Japanese forces which moved into Manila converged from the north and south, meeting at the outskirts of the city. It implied that the Japanese had to fight their way into the city, saying that the troops, "braving furious fire, stormed the city utilizing Manila's important modern highways."

(The United States War Department communique on Manila said "all American and Philippine troops were withdrawn from the city several days ago" and that "as it had been previously declared an open city, no close defense within the environs of the city was possible.")

Australians Praise U. S. Stand as Gaining Valuable Time.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3 (AP). — The Melbourne radio, commenting on the fall of Manila, said today there was "nothing but praise in Australia for the way Gen. Douglas MacArthur handled his men."

The broadcast quoted the Brisbane Herald as saying MacArthur had made a heroic stand.

"The defense of the Philippines has not been in vain," the Herald added. "Gen. MacArthur's stand at least occupied a considerable part of Japan's effort for three weeks. This was of tremendous value, as everything depended on gaining time to allow consolidation and reinforcement of Allied positions in Malaya, Burma and the East Indies."

Interpreting the War News

MANILA UNDER U. S. FOR 43 YEARS

By the Associated Press.

IT was more than 43 years ago that the American people were electrified by the news that the Spanish fleet had been destroyed in Manila Bay in a dawn-to-lunch battle with Dewey's cruisers.

Passing the then lightly armed island of Corregidor, where big guns now guard the entrance, Commodore George Dewey attacked the Spanish fleet anchored in the bay on May 1, 1898., and destroyed it to the last ship.

The surrender of Manila, however, did not take place until Aug. 13. Previously the Philippine capital had been occupied by the Spaniards in 1565, captured an sacked by the British in 1762 and returned by them to the Spaniards in 1763.

Sailing From Mirs Bay near Hongkong, Dewey disregarded the danger of mines and torpedoes to take his four little armored cruisers Olympia, Baltimore, Raleigh and Boston, the unarmored cruiser Concord, the gunboat Petrel, and the armed revenue cutter Hugh M'Culloch into the bay at dawn on May 1, 1898.

Admiral Montojo of Spain had anchored his two armored cruisers, two gunboats, an old wooden steamer and two other warships in line just east of the spit on the south side of the bay that became the United States naval base of Cavite.

Dewey, parading his ships past in a line, opened fire at 5000 yards at 5:41 a. m.—"you may fire when you are ready, Gridley"— and then quit at 7:35 a. m. for breakfast.

Just before lunch he resumed the battle, but by that time two of Montojo's best warships were afire, and all Dewey had to do was sink the rest of them and silence the shore batteries.

Just seven Americans were wounded. The Spaniards lost 167 killed and 214 wounded.

Taking possession of Cavite, Dewey sent word to Washington that he could capture Manila any time, but lacked the men to hold it. He waited there most of the summer until nearly 11,000 troops had arrived from San Francisco. Then the Americans entrenched within 1000 yards of the city on Aug. 7.

The 13,000 Spaniards within the city were surrounded by Filipino insurgents and were unable to put up a prolonged fight when the general assault began on the morning of Aug. 13. They raised the white flag at 11 a. m.

Dewey gives this account of the incident in his autobiography:

"At 5:43 I saw the Spanish flag come down and then our own float in its place. The guns of all our ships thundered out a national salute, while the band of one of our regiments, which happily chanced to be passing the citadel, played the 'Star-Spangled Banner,' the troops saluted, officers uncovered, and the Stars and Stripes, as it was raised for the first time over Manila, was greeted with all the honor so punctiliously given the flag on ceremonious occasions both by the Army and the Navy."

RIOTING, MANY ARRESTS REPORTED IN NORWAY AFTER COMMANDO RAIDS

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 3.

REPORTS from Oslo today said the British commando raids on the Norwegian coast had caused riots all over Western Norway, with the Germans arresting several hundred demonstrators for military court action.

Joseph Terboven, the German commissioner for Norway, was reported already to have fined the village of Raudeberg 10,000 kroner because German telegraph cables were cut in 20 places near there on Vaagse Island, where the British landed last Saturday.

SENATE TO BEGIN DEBATE ON PRICE BILL NEXT WEEK

all prices to levels of the period Oct. 1-15, with a few exceptions.

"This is not an overall price-fixing attempt," he added. "It is a selective control measure where the price administrator may fix maximums if he has reason to believe that any prices are getting out of line."

Provisions of Bill.

Brown said the banking committee had decided "four major issues" and enumerated them in this order:

1. Administration by a single Price Administrator.

2. Price limits could not be set on a farm product until its price had reached 110 per cent of parity, or the average market price on last. Oct 1, whichever was higher. (Parity is a level which would afford the producer a return equivalent to that in a stipulated previous period, usually 1909-14.)

3. Licensing of all buyers and sellers affected, except farmers.

4. Rejection of attempts to control wages, salaries or incomes.

Brown said that operation through a single administrator would make for prompt action. Appeals from orders could be taken first to the Administrator and then to a special Federal Court.

Numerous suggestions for freezing wages were rejected, Brown said, because this would "be impractical, while effective price control will serve as a control over wages. There can be no basis for asking higher wages if prices are stabilized."

Controversy Over Farm Products.

As expected, the farm price section caused the biggest argument within the committee.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard appeared at the closed session to suggest that his department, now charged with responsibility of producing the food and fibre needed to win the war, should also fix farm price ceilings. Henderson opposed this.

The Senate committee voted to let President Roosevelt transfer any functions among various Government agencies, and Brown said this would permit a shift of farm price controls later if deemed necessary.

Brown said the broad licensing provisions would be invoked against only "the most flagrant violators" and that the most drastic penalty in the bill would be suspension of license for not more than a year. Such suspension could apply only after an initial violation and warning.

FAMOUS JAPANESE FLYER KILLED BY BRITISH FIRE

Tokyo Says He Returned to Base; Set Japan-London Record in 1937 Flight.

TOKYO, Jan. 3 (Official broadcast recorded by AP).—Masaaki Iinuma, one of Japan's ace pilots who flew the plane Divine Wind from Tokyo to London in the record time of 94 hours and 18 minutes in 1937, died of wounds suffered during attacks on Northern Malaya, Army aviation headquarters announced today.

Iinuma managed to bring his plane back to his base, despite his injuries on Dec. 11, it was said.

CHANCE OF U. S. TAKING PRIVATE AUTOS MINIMIZED

Henderson's Phrase Gloomy Prospect Said to Refer to Possible, Not Probable Requisitions.

COMMENT CHECKED USED CAR SALES

Officials Say Though Country Must Be Ready for Anything, This Is No Reason for Not Buying.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The prospect that the Government might find it necessary to commandeer private automobiles for public service was placed today in the realm of "the possible" rather than "the probable."

This interpretation eased somewhat the fears of automobile owners throughout the country, occasioned yesterday when Price Administrator Leon Henderson described such commandering as a "gloomy prospect."

Office of Price Administration officials explained today that this country, in its tremendous war effort, must be prepared to face any contingency. But, they continued, there was no reason that the future ruling over private machines should affect purchase or sale of used cars now.

In some cities it was reported prospective buyers had declined to purchase used cars for fear the government soon would take them over.

Mr. Henderson explained yesterday that only 650,000 new cars would be available for sale to private consumers after automobile production is stopped next month for the duration of the war, a number sufficient for the needs of physicians and surgeons, police, fire departments and similar public necessity activities.

The CIO took full-page advertisements in Washington and New York newspapers to publicize its frequently repeated contention that the automobile industry had failed to enter all-out production of war goods despite labor's urging.

The advertisement, in the form of an open letter to the OPM, said 250,000 automobile workers were idle now and that a total of 600,000 would be idle by the end of January.

Signed by Philip Murray, CIO president, the letter said union proposals for all-out production should be placed before the OPM and in the conference of Government officials, labor leaders and automobile executives which has been called to meet in Washington Monday.

Tire Dealers Here Get Instructions on Rationing.

About 100 St. Louis tire dealers met at the Chamber of Commerce office today and received instructions on the rationing plan from Leonard G. Platt, St. Louis tire rationing administrator, and Mrs. Loretta Vrooman of Chicago, regional representative of the Office of Price Administration.

Members of the tire rationing boards in 12 Eastern Missouri counties, meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office yesterday, were told by Mrs. Loretta Vrooman of Chicago, regional representative of the Office of Price Administration, that the tire program must be conducted with utmost stringency and that "absolutely no concessions will be made to unqualified applicants for new tires."

Admitting that tire rationing will work hardship on many people, in forcing many out of jobs, Mrs. Vrooman added, "But we must remember that our forces in Manila are enduring incomparably greater hardship at this moment."

Mrs. Vrooman outlined the manner in which local defense councils should organize tire rationing boards and asked chairmen of completed rationing boards to announce the location of meeting rooms and hours as soon as possible.

No Skating in Parks Yet.

No skating was permitted today and none will be allowed tomorrow on the lagoons in Forest Park and other city parks as the ice is too thin for safety, Otto H. Hempelmann, superintendent of parks, announces. Most of the ice was less than two inches thick.

Bar on Auto and Tire Sales to Cut State Tax Income 5 Million a Year

With Treasury Deficit Likely, Officials Talk of Economy or Special Session of Legislature.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 3.—A virtual certainty that state sales tax revenues will suffer an immediate heavy decline, approaching $5,000,000 a year, as a result of the Federal prohibition of the sale of automobiles and tires, is causing State fiscal officials grave concern.

They are confronted with a situation which means the wiping out of any expected balance in the State Treasury at the end of the year, if not with a sizable deficit, and are becoming convinced that there must be either a sharp takeup in expenditures or a special session of the Legislature to increase tax rates to provide additional revenue.

More than 17 per cent of the sales tax revenue of the State is derived from sales of automobiles and accessories. A major part of this is from new automobiles and tire sales, which already have been cut off, and they foresee that an almost total stoppage of sales of accessories will follow immediately.

In the first 11 months of 1941 the total sales-tax revenue was $26,487,015.25, of which $4,471,878.47, or 17.545 per cent, was from sales of automobiles and accessories. This constituted the second largest source of sale-tax money, food coming first, with $6,126,647.22, or 23.12 per cent of the total.

Elimination of automobile sales revenue will cost the general revenue fund of the State, from which old-age pensions and general operating coses are paid, neaarly $3,500,000 a year, and the public school fund, which receives one-third of the revenue, will lose in excess of $1,750,000.

Miss Margaret Cobb, Assistant Budget Director, has compiled statistics, which will be presented to Gov. Forrest C. Donnell for his consideration, showing the exact losses which may be expected.

While it is anticipated that some of the loss will be offset by a possible increase in the sales of used automobiles, and by possible higher collections from some sources through increased prices generally, Miss Cobb today expressed the opinion that curtailment of the use of automobiles will gradually result in a drop of receipts from many sources, affecting materially also the highway revenues of the State.

She said that it was her expectation that there would soon be shown a decrease in hotel, restaurant and amusement receipts, and that in the summer there would be a marked falling off in the business of tourist camp and recreation places.

Practically all the money obtained for construction and maintenance of highways, except the Federal aid, the amount of which is largely controlled by the ability of the State to match the Federal money comes from automobile licenses, the gasoline tax and drivers' licenses. While there probably will not be a heavy decrease in the sale of licenses this year, it is expected there will be some. Gasoline taxes are expected to feel the effect immediately through the decreased use of cars because of a desire by owners to make tires last as long as possible, and show a rapidly increasing decline as tires wear out and a gradually increasing number of cars are no longer in service.

In the face of declining revenues, there is strong movement in the State for an increase in old-age pension allotments, and the Governor has been urged to call a special session of the Legislature for that purpose.

While the Governor has admitted that he has given consideration to summoning the Legislature to provide additional funds for the State Council of Defense, he has reached no decision. It now appears probable that the approaching deficiency in the revenue will call for legislative consideration.

STATE PATROL ORDERED TO INFORM CAR DEALERS OF BAR AGAINST SALES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 3.

ACTING on a request from Federal authorities, Gov. Donnell yesterday directed the State Highway Patrol to take steps immediately to notify all automobile dealers of the order of the United States Office of Production Management prohibiting the sale, purchase or delivery of new automobiles and trucks, pending establishment of a rationing system.

The Governor instructed the patrol to notify mayors and police departments of all cities and towns, and county sheriffs, and to request them to convey the notice to all automobile dealers within their jurisdictions.

No instructions have been received by the State Defense Council as to the method that will be utilized in the State to ration new cars and trucks, the Governor said.

the afternoon to visit Mrs. Paddock's grandmother at Ramsey, Ill., and were presumably on their way home. Frailey lived with the Paddocks at 212 Marshall street, Alton.

In the other car were Mr. and Mrs. Woolsey, Mrs. Pryor, her daughter, and King. The Woolseys and Pryors live at 2724 Residence street, Alton. Neighbors said that Mrs. Pryor had received word that her mother was ill in Kentucky and the two families had apparently started for Kentucky on a weekend visit.

The intersection where the two cars crashed is two miles east of Hamel. Both roads are two-lane concrete highways. Highway 140, which runs east and west, has the right-of-way, while cars on Highway 43 are required to stop.

Police said both cars were apparently going at high speed and that whichever car was on Highway 43 did not stop.

Paddock and Frailey were employed at the Alton Box Board Co., Woolsey works at the Laclede Steel Co.

CONSENT DECREE BARS PRICE-FIXING BY LUMBERMEN

U. S. Court Order Names National Association, 22 Other Groups—Follows Indictment.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—A consent decree under which the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association and 22 state and regional dealer organizations are enjoined from price-fixing and allocations of markets and customers was filed today in United States District Court at Denver.

The Department of Justice announced entry of the decree along with the filing of a civil suit alleging violation on the anti-trust laws through a program of restricted distribution in the sale of lumber products, cement and other building materials in 35 states.

The case grew out of two indictments returned by a Federal grand jury at Denver last April 14. Some of those indicted, the department said, had pleaded no contest and paid a total of $78,320 in fines.

The civil complaint, which was filed as a necessary prelude to the consent decree, charged that the defendant associations, representing about 20,000 retail lumber dealers, had conspired to suppress competition, fix prices, allocate territories and customers, and compel manufacturers and wholesalers to refuse to sell to dealers who were not on the list of "recognized" dealers compiled from the membership of the associations.

Those listed as defendants, in addition to the national body, were:

Arizona Retail Lumber and Builders' Supply Association, Carolina Lumber and Building Supply Association, Illinois Lumber and Material Dealers' Association, Indiana Lumber and Builders' Supply Association, Kentucky Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, Louisiana Building Material Dealers' Association, Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, Mountain States Lumber Dealers' Association, Middle Atlantic Lumbermens' Association, New Jersey Lumbermens' Association, New York Lumber Trade Association, Northeastern Retail Lumbermens' Association, Northwestern Lumbermens' Association, Southwestern Lumbermens' Association, Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers, Tennessee Lumber Millwork and Supply Dealers' Association, Utah Lumber Dealers' Association, Western Retail Lumbermens' Association, West Virginia Lumber and Builder Supply Dealers' Association, Wisconsin Retail Lumbermens' Association, Iowa Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, and Montana Retail Lumber Dealers' Association.

had told acquaintances in the holiday season that she had "nothing to be happy about."

Two Letters in Her Purse.

Two letters were found in Mrs. Wassman's purse. One, dated "Monday p. m.," said, in part:

"My dear Nancy: Something must have happened at home, because Lucille said Friday night, 'Why don't you have to go to Chi next week and I'll go along to see Clyde and La Verne.' I don't know whether it was your call or whether da said something about the call at the office — anyway I said I wasn't sure what I was going to have to do this week.

"If I can get away I'll leave on the noon train and then catch the midnight train back. That is better than not coming, isn't it, but not too good. Lots of love." It was signed, "d b."

Another note, dated Dec.20,1941, headed the same way and said, in part:

"Just came in this morning and read your letter. You make me feel bad because your requests are so much different than the things I can do.

"Honey, I am sending two defense bonds, Christmas 1941. Wish there were more of these because I would like it better myself but can't. Am also sending a check so you con get the plane for young Walter and a bottle of brandy to nip on as you wish. Honey, I'll let you know when I get back but we just can't plan on Christmas or New Year's this year. I know I would have company on any trip I would make north.

"I know you will say I don't mean it but, regardless, I am wishing you a merry Christmas anyway, and I really do mean it. Please have a good time and don't worry. Lots of love, db."

About an hour after the bodies were found a man who refused to identify himself telephoned Chicago police and said that Mrs. Wassman was known also as Nancy LaMotte. At an apartment building at 1419 Hollywood avenue police were informed that Mrs. Wassman shared an apartment there with a sister, Mrs. Helen Prill. The building directory listed an apartment in the names of Miss LaMotte and Mrs. Nancy Wassman.

Mrs. Prill's husband, Walter, told police that Mrs. Wassman had known McArdle for about five years.

$1207 Check in His Pocket.

In McArdle's pockets police found membership cards in the Missouri Athletic Club and Chamber of Commerce and a check for $1207, dated Dec. 27 and payable to him. He was a member also of the University Club and the Engineers' Club. A graduate of Michigan State College, he came to St. Louis from Birmingham, Ala., about 10 years ago.

At the McArdle home, Thomas C. Clark, who described himself as a friend of the family, said McArdle left St. Louis for Chicago Thursday night, presumably on a business trip, and was to have returned today. McArdle was in good spirits Thursday afternoon when they listened to a broadcast of a football game, Clark said.

Surviving, besides his wife, is a 16-year-old daughter, Dorothy Ann.

of the United States Army staff, has been in the Far East for some time. Only a few days ago a military council was created in Chungking, China, composed of Wavell, Chiang Kai-shek and Brett.

American naval contingents have been co-operating with the British and Dutch Navies in the Southwest Pacific, but the whereabouts of Admiral Hart's main forces naturally have been shrouded in secrecy since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

Gen. Wavell's headquarters recently have been at Simla, India, where he was transferred last July. He changed places with Gen. Sir. Claude Auchinleck, present British Middle Eastern commander.

Hull's Comment on Pact.

Secretary of State Hull said that the joining of 26 free nations "in the greatest common war effort in history" represented "the overwhelming majority of the inhabitants of all six continents."

"This is a living proof that law-abiding and peace-loving nations can unite in using the sword when necessary to preserve liberty and justice and the fundamental values of mankind," said Hull's statement.

Masked from the Axis powers were any military assurances Britain and the United States may have obtained from Russia in the talks.

Under the wording of the agreement, Russia was not bound to military action against Japan. Yet, as Churchill continued to point out, the Russian menace still hangs over Japan and keeps the Japanese from using their full force in southern Asia.

Observers pointed to Russia's signature on the new agreement as evidence that the Kremlin had abandoned the Soviet idea of Communist world revolution in favor of full co-operation with Washington and London.

Roosevelt Selects Name.

The signatory countries were officially designated as the United Nations.

The designation, it was learned, was the result of long thought by President Roosevelt. He had been working night and day on the pact and he considered the designation until 2:30 a. m. Wednesday.

He wanted an adequate description, it was understood, which would avoid calling the signatories the associated or allied powers.

During the last World War when these latter terms were used, there was some opposition to alignment with any foreign power.

High officials said the President used his war powers in committing the Government to make no separate peace. While Congress has the right to declare war, the President is charged with prosecuting it as Commander-in-Chief, and the declaration by the United Nations was described as a war measure.

BEGINNING OF NEW LEAGUE, SAY BRITISH

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The 26-nation pact announced yesterday in Washington was hailed in British quarters today as the death knell of the Axis and the beginning of a new league of nations.

"This declaration," the News Chronicle said, "holds out hope of more than victory. All nations concerned have voluntarily subscribed to the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

"They plan to work together in peace as well as in war for common ends. A new League of Nations is arising under better auspices."

The Daily Telegraph said the "Tripartite felons can never hope to prevail" against the might and resolution behind the pact.

"Beside this treaty of Washington," the Telegraph said, "the Tripartite pact of Berlin must appear a puny affair even to its own authors and to the Quislings who have made it ridiculous with their servile signatures.

"For Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo the Washington treaty is the writing on the wall."

The Daily Sketch asserted that the Washington agreement to crush the Axis was the "greatest news of the war. The bond will link the Allies firmly together and fortify their hearts for victory."

The Evening Star said one result of the Roosevelt-Churchill talks is likely to be the appointment of Sir Stafford Cripps, present British Ambassador to Moscow, as a minister of state to sit on an Allied war council in the United States.

"Definite Step Toward Winning War," Says Chinese Statement.

CHUNGKING, Jan. 3 (AP).—An official Chinese statement, hailing the 26-power anti-Axis pact as "a definite step toward winning the war," said today that China would play its part in helping smash Japan and establish a world peace that would endure.

"After this declaration," the statement said, "there will be only one war—one alliance—one peace.

"The peace to come must be a real and lasting peace. . . .

"The Atlantic Charter has become the world charter."

A Chinese spokesman said the fall of Manila—although "sad news"—would not have "serious consequences in the operations of the Allied Powers in the Pacific."

Minister Says Pact Is Not Substitute for Australian Resources.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister, said today the Washington pact was "an enormous step forward," but cautioned Australians that they must not consider it a substitute "for the necessity of employing all their own resources in defeat of the enemy."

Evatt's comment was reported by the Australian radio, heard by CBS.

Chairman, Dean McClain, Declines to Tell Action; 5 More Cases Set for Monday.

Six enemy aliens had hearings yesterday and Wednesday before the Enemy Alien Hearing Board, which is empowered to recommend to Attorney General Biddle that they be interned, paroled or unconditionally released.

Three more hearings have been set for Monday afternoon and two for Monday evening.

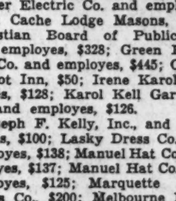
SNOW IN LOS ANGELES, CITY'S FIRST IN 10 YEARS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3 (AP).—Southern California had a most unusual New Year's. The complete story couldn't be told until yesterday.

It was unusual enough not to welcome the New Year with noisy street parades, or Pasadena's Tournament of Roses and football game, or Santa Anita racetrack's handicap, but on top of all that, it snowed.

A mantle as deep as two inches covered scattered sections of the city and many a youngster built his first snow man. It was 10 years since the last snow fell in the city.

Hail combined with brilliant lightning and almost deafening thunder preceded the snowfall.



50 Years Ago Today

Havlin's Theatre, one of St. Louis' show palaces, featured Kate Byron at the matinee today. The play was "Byron, the Plunger," described as more surprising than French Pantomime, "more sensational than melodrama." Scenes included "a woman thrown in front of a train" and "real water in torrents."

FIRE SALE WITHOUT A FIRE PUTS HEAT ON DRESS SHOP MAN

Ralph Bolozky, dress shop owner, is charged in a warrant with false, deceptive and misleading advertising as a result of a "fire sale" that he held after firemen were called to his store at 2711 North Fourteenth street but could not find a trace of smoke.

The only flames to be found, firemen reported after responding to the alarm on Nov. 3, were in a slightly overheated furnace. Three days later, it is alleged in the warrant, Bolozky ran advertisements in small community newspapers stating: "$10,000 Stock Must be Sold at Once Because of Fire; Prices Drastically Reduced."

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Patrick J. Cavanaugh told a reporter the warrant was issued on complaint of the Better Business Bureau. Bolozky, who lives at 5144 Palm street, was charged also with violation of the fictitious name law when it was found his store, known as Myles Dress Shop, had not been registered with the Secretary of State. He was released on $500 bond, returnable Jan. 14 in the Court of Criminal Correction. The offenses are misdemeanors.

City Gas Mask Committee Named; To Hand Out Equipment as Provided

Appointment of a committee to supervise the distribution of gas masks and other emergency equipment to St. Louisans was announced today by Charles H. Ellaby, chief of the maintenance of vital services function of the civilian defense organization.

Ellaby told reporters he expected the Federal Government to supply masks or any other equipment the Government considers necessary.

Sam Greenland Jr. is chairman of the executive committee in charge of distribution of emergency equipment. I. D. Norman and Alfred L. Rascher are members of the executive committee, and there are 12 other members of a general committee, Ellaby announced.

Former Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann, a United States Inspector General of civilian defense, said he considered it unlikely that the Government would distribute gas masks to all civilians.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Postal Clerk Answers Criticism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AFTER reading Harry R. Culp's letter, "Dissatisfied With Civil Service," I feel I cannot let him or the public have such a misguided idea of postal service.

Let Mr. Culp meet and talk to the postal clerk who took a not-too-easy civil service examination to get his job. The applicant then may have waited three or four years to be called. He was then made a regular substitute at 65 cents an hour. He worked when there was work to do and sat on a bench, off the clock, when there was no work.

This man put up with these conditions for from two to six and sometimes more years, before he was made a regular clerk, and during his spare time he was studying to pass frequent examinations. Any postal clerk Mr. Culp talks to can tell him all about that.

The postal clerk's salary is set in Washington, and investigation will show it hasn't been adjusted since 1925. This same postal clerk goes on for 30 years or more at the same salary, with little prospect of a raise, standing at his separation case for eight, and at Christmas time as many as 15, hours a day. Most of his work is done at night, so that the mail can be delivered in the morning.

I wonder how fast Mr. Culp would work if he were behind a window handling hundreds of dollars of someone else's money and knowing he was responsible for every cent of it. I'm inclined to believe he would be slow and careful.

Another thing Mr. Culp evidently doesn't know is that the postal employe pays 3 per cent of his salary toward his pension from the time he starts subbing until he retires at the minimum age of 63, as well as paying all taxes any other citizen pays.

Postal employes work hard to maintain the high standard of efficiency that characterizes the postal service, and we are justly proud of our record, for we have built the finest system in the world.

Let anyone investigate the postal service and the civil service system thoroughly and he will agree with our President and other intelligent people that it is a credit to our nation.

Some Ideas for Intuitive Adolf.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOW that Adolf Hitler has taken over supreme command of the Nazi forces from Gen. von Brauchitsch, he intends to base his strategy on intuition.

Hitler's first move to fight Gen. Winter should be to confiscate all hot water bottles in the Nazi homeland and to send them to his freezing soldiers on the Russian front.

While he is at it, he might as well collect all the icebags he can gather and send them to his soldiers in the Libyan Desert.

M. D.

Calls It a Cockeyed World.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE first article by Leland Stowe, in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, on the conditions existing on the Burma road, is shocking and deplorable. It will prove a surprise to millions of Americans, as it did also to myself. There is something rotten, not in Denmark, but in China.

Also a few days ago a situation developed regarding the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, belonging to the French Government, which were occupied by the Free French forces, under command of Gen. de Gaulle. The population of these islands have expressed themselves by a vote of 98 per cent that they cast their lot on the side of the Allies. But the State Department in Washington intimates that they must go back to the French under Petain, although this gentleman has no authority to do anything except what he is permitted to do by order of Shickelgruber.

What sort of "cockeyed" world are our boys at the front fighting for?

I. STAHLBEHL.

Busses and Narrow Streets.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AWAY to avoid repetition of the Tower Grove bus accident would be to put stop signs along streets that busses use. This would make the streets thoroughfares and give the busses the right of way.

Big vehicles, such as busses, were never intended to be run over narrow streets, and to have them running in both directions is dangerous. Why not run busses one way on narrow streets?

For busses to make up time on narrow streets is almost a suicidal policy.

HARRY WALLACE.

The Timoshenkos.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

FOR many weeks we have been reading of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko, the great commander of the Russian Southern Armies. However, there is another great Timoshenko whose first name also begins with the letter S. I am referring to Stephen Timoshenko, an American, who has written numerous books on mechanics, elasticity and other related subjects. If Semyon is as great a General as Stephen is a mathematician, then the Russian Southern armies are in good hands.

The same surnames together with the apparent brilliance of both men suggests immediately that the two Timoshenkos may be related. Is it possible that Semyon and Stephen are brothers, or perhaps cousins? The answer is probably an interesting one.

MAX GARBER.

DELEGATE DIMOND'S APPEAL.

Take a globe and a piece of string. Measure the distance from Tokyo southeast to Hawaii and it is virtually 4000 miles. Measure the distance from Hawaii northeast up to San Francisco and it is approximately 2500 miles. By way of Honolulu, it is 6500 miles to the capital of our Pacific enemy.

But that is the long way. Put the string down the shortest way. Now it passes in a continuous line from Tokyo through Alaska to Seattle. The distance is much reduced. Our string now shows the distance to be in the vicinity of 5000 miles, a reduction of approximately one-fourth.

Now measure the distance from Tokyo to the Aleutian Islands, which reach out from the Alaskan mainland into the North Pacific. This is something like 1500 miles—more or less the distance from here to Cape Cod.

But Japanese soil is much nearer to us than its capital city. The Japanese Empire consists of thousands of islands which stretch out in a long cluster from just below Kamchatka on the frozen north to Formosa in the tropical south. The Japanese islands which are nearest to the westernmost of the Aleutian chain are only 800 miles or so away.

In a word, then, the war in the Pacific is not a third of the way around the earth. Potentially, it is as close to North America and our territory as the most eastern Japanese islands are to the most western of the Aleutians. And that is only a hop, skip and a jump.

With these facts of geography in our minds, the appeal in Washington of Anthony J. Dimond, Alaska's delegate to Congress, for an immediate strengthening of our Alaskan defenses becomes highly interesting. Stirred by the Navy Department's announcement that Japanese vessels were "suspected of being in the vicinity of Kodiak Island," Mr. Dimond asks for "planes, more planes—lots of planes." Alaska needs, he also says, "as many naval vessels as can be spared. What happened at Guam is enough to tell us what we should do on the islands of Alaska."

The warning of the delegate from Alaska doubtless will be heeded in Washington, since its validity cannot be questioned. Alaska is on the shortest route and about half-way. Occupation of any of its islands by the Japanese would be a serious obstacle to aerial communication with Eastern Siberia, which may soon be available as a base for operations against Japan. It would be a seizure by our enemy of American soil in North America. It would be a threat to the minerals and other war materials which come out of Alaska. It would be a potential calamity.

THAT 20-CENT-A-MILE PERQUISITE.

Everybody is contributing to national defense. Americans all over the land are buying defense bonds. Here and there factory workers are giving up a day's work toward the war chest, and now there is a way Congress can help out by throwing a few blue chips in the kitty.

Members of House and Senate adjourned sine die yesterday and then voted to begin a new session next Monday. Adjournment was a mere gesture. Congress could have continued its work into the new year without starting a new session. The only practical effect of sine die adjournment is to make all Congressmen eligible for their 20-cent-a-mile travel allowance. Of course, with the two sessions only a few days apart, few will actually leave Washington. The mileage allowance is just a perquisite added to their $10,000 yearly salaries.

By not adjourning, or by refusing to appropriate their travel allowance now that they have adjourned, our 531 members of Congress could contribute a tidy sum toward a Flying Fortress.

They could, but we're betting they won't.

ENCOURAGING REPORT FROM PEARL HARBOR.

Joseph Harsch of the Christian Science Monitor's crack foreign staff returned to this country after two years in Germany, put his dispatches together to form a whale of a good war book, "Pattern of Conquest," attended and reported on the army maneuvers in this country and then shoved off for Hawaii. He arrived in time to hear Japanese bombs falling on Pearl Harbor.

Harsch is a bang-up A No. 1 reporter. He realistically appraised the German situation, cited instances where the Nazi military system was far ahead of the American and knocked the wishful thinkers into a cocked hat with proof that Germany was not going to be conquered without great effort and a fierce fight. After looking over our own Army in the field, he said it could be whipped into a jim-dandy fighting machine and he also handed out a lot of constructive criticism.

It's mighty encouraging to read his latest dispatches from Honolulu. In brief, he says: Outside of damage to ships, slight harm was done to the navy yard; all harbor facilities are working full blast; salvage on damaged ships is going along fine; all fighting equipment is dispersed—any one bomb would catch only one gun or plane or tank; lost men and planes have been more than replaced; in the candid professional opinion of officers, the Japs "put on a swell show" but if they come over again, Lord help 'em; the baptism of fire has improved morale and discipline wonderfully; Japanese radio propaganda continues to boast that the United States fleet and Pearl Harbor h..ve been destroyed.

In view of Harsch's "Pattern of Conquest," with its objective reporting and its warnings, and in view of his reports from the field on our Army, it is easy to believe his encouraging report from Honolulu.

History might have been changed if Paul Revere and a flivver plane had been at Pearl Harbor.

26 AGAINST 13.

On Nov. 24, representatives of the major Axis nations and of their willing or unwilling stooges—13 countries all told—met in Berlin and signed a document reiterating support of the philosophy on which Hitler's New Order is to be based.

Yesterday, the anti-Axis nations gathered their delegates at Washington to sign a pact pledging defeat of the totalitarian forces and stating the principles of freedom on which their co-operation rests. When the roll was called, 26 countries were represented, and they included the world's mightiest and richest, in addition to those temporarily occupied by the Nazis, and a group of Latin American republics occupying highly important strategic positions. They constitute "the overwhelming majority of the inhabitants of all six continents," united in "the greatest common war effort in history," as Secretary Hull pointed out.

So 26 free nations have answered the 13 slave nations with a pledge of war to the finish, support for liberty and democratic institutions, and full co-operation. It is the formal beginning of the united strategy which is necessary to blast the Axis from the advantage it holds because of its early start in arming and its treacherous methods of attack.

It is an agreement of epochal significance. For the first time, it states the common and determined purpose of America, Britain, Russia, China and the other countries, which had previously been fighting alone or co-operating loosely. The Atlantic Charter, with its promise for a better world after the war, now becomes a multilateral declaration rather than an understanding between two countries alone.

A REMARKABLE CASE OF OPTIMISM.

Bus and street car service, already bad, may be expected soon to grow worse. By refusing to admit that unpleasant fact, the Public Service Co. is showing more optimism than common sense.

An influx of defense workers, plus cheap, popular weekly passes, has already caused a great increase in bus and street car riders. In November, 1941, there were 2,500,000 more than in November, 1940.

This increase was wisely foreseen. To provide adequate transportation for "workers engaged in the very extensive national defense activities," as well as to serve the public generally, 100 new street cars and 340 busses were ordered last July. All the street cars have arrived, but only 100 busses. When the other busses appear, the Public Service Co. has promised comfortable transportation for the passengers who now are packed like sardines in the overcrowded vehicles.

However, the problem has been recently complicated by the outbreak of war. Now America's source of rubber is cut off and a shortage of auto tires may force many motorists to ride to and from work in busses and trolley cars. This passenger increase could not be foreseen last summer, and it did not enter into the company's calculations.

Therefore, it is hard to believe, as the company officials now contend, that their new busses will provide for these unexpected passengers, too.

A further question arises. Although the Public Service Co. has received 100 new street cars this year, there are only 18 more trolley cars in service now than there were last year, according to a recent statement of its president, William T. Rossell. If the company is following its oft-proclaimed policy of retaining old equipment during this transportation emergency for use along with the new, nearly 100 more badly needed cars should be in service, rather than 18.

The bland optimism of the management in the face of this new and unexpected passenger increase is a blow to public confidence.

ON MAY 1, 1898.

It was a long, long time from May 1, 1898, to Jan. 2, 1942; from the joyous day when the American Asiatic Squadron defeated the Spaniards in the Battle of Manila Bay to the somber afternoon when Japanese land forces marched into the city.

As soon as war was declared, 44 years ago, Commodore George Dewey got orders to capture or destroy the Spanish fleet at Manila. In less than a week, he had carried out his instructions. Dewey gave his immortal order, "You may fire when ready, Gridley," and the battle began at dawn. After time out for breakfast, it continued, and ended in the afternoon, with Spain's eight ships sunk or burned, the land batteries silenced, and eight wounded as the only American casualties. Dewey took possession of the bay, and informed Washington: "Can take city at any time, but I have insufficient men to hold." His squadron lay there waiting for the transports which had started from San Francisco, and on Aug. 13, soon after they arrived, Manila surrendered on the firing of a few shots.

The country went mad with rejoicing over Dewey's victory at Manila Bay. It proved the previously doubted quality of the Navy, and it established America as a world power, as decaying Spain, where a regent ruled for a boy named Alfonso XIII, slid out of the picture. The bands played "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," thousands of babies were christened George Dewey, the hero was made an Admiral, and was prominently mentioned as presidential timber. A popular versifier called Ironquill (Eugene F. Ware) wrote a bit of doggerel that swept a jubilant nation:

O, dewy was the morning
Upon the first of May,
And Dewey was the Admiral,
Down in Manila Bay.
And dewy were the Regent's eyes,
"Them orbs" of royal blue,
And Dewey feel discouraged?
I Dew not think we Dew.

It is a long, long way from that frenzied occasion to the loss of Manila at the start of another war. Everything has changed, except the truth of the last two lines of Ironquill's verse.

BATTLE OF THE HOTEL BILLS.

When nations sever diplomatic relations, international etiquette requires that each make arrangements for the comfort of the envoys on its soil, until the return of its own delegates abroad is provided for. So the United States Government has taken Hans Thomsen, German charge d'affaires, and staff of about 100 persons to a luxurious hotel at White Sulphur Springs, Va. It has sent the Japanese envoys, Nomura and Kurusu, and some 80 aids to a swanky resort at Hot Springs, Va. The Italian Ambassador, Prince Colonna, is still in Washington, but is expected to depart soon for a period of equally generous hospitality pending his return to Rome.

Before any hard-pressed taxpayer begins protesting about this apparent pampering of the country's enemies, it would be well to find out why these Axis agents are luxuriating among the thick carpets, potted palms, gold-plated bathrooms and $5 steaks of the country's top resorts. Newsweek has done some research, and comes up with a plausible answer.

It finds that, a few days after Hitler declared war on the United States, our envoys were removed from Berlin to Bad Nauheim, the ritzy Rhineland equivalent of Hot Springs and White Sulphur. A Department of State expert swiftly concluded that the Nazis were going to wine and dine our diplomats, "and then tender a whopping bill, whose payment would help enrich the Reich's dollar exchange." Not to be outdone in this slick little game, Washington is sending its involuntary guests to the costliest hostleries, so that the bills will approximately balance those for the lavish entertainment of our people abroad.

In this battle of the hotel bills, the tariff-setting genius of American hotelkeepers is pitted against the best figure-juggling that the Axis tourist-gougers can contrive. We're betting on the home team.

The livery stable is coming back into its own and soon the kids will be echoing a famous cry of 40 years ago: "Git a horse!"

Our Navy's Problem in the Pacific

The Mirror of Public Opinion

If Philippines and Singapore are lost, the riches of Southeast Asia are Japan's and we shall have a long, hard struggle to beat her; strong reinforcements of men and planes could save both bases, but convoy problem is difficult; America's forces cover wide front.

From the United States News, Independent Weekly of National Affairs, Washington.

TODAY'S battles for the Philippines and Malaya will decide tomorrow's broad issues of the war in the Pacific. When Japan took Manila, she opened the way for all-out attack on Singapore. If both fall, the riches of Southeast Asia lie at her feet. Japan then has most of the world's rubber supply, the Philippines' iron, the Indies' oil and the food of an empire to help her carry on the war. The chance to defeat Japan by strangling her is gone.

For the United States, the outcome of the present battles may mean the difference between a relatively easy contest, leaving this country free to go on fighting Hitler as the main job, and a long, hard struggle, using tremendous energies against Japan.

Despite the great stake for this country, the temporary tide of victory still is running strongly toward Japan. The situation naturally fills the minds of Americans with many questions.

How were the Japanese able to land on the Philippines? Access is easy from the nearby Japanese island of Formosa. And Hainan, where Japan has been concentrating troops for many months, is only about 800 miles away.

Air and sea superiority would be a deadly check against large-scale landings from transports. But in the Philippine battles, this edge of air strength belongs to the Japanese.

Why does Japan have the advantage in the air? How can Japan be superior when her airplane production monthly is only 250 to 500 planes as against 2000 for us?

The answer is that it is not a nation's production of airplanes but the number it can concentrate over the battlefield that wins the fight. American planes are in action in Russia, over Germany, and in the Near East.

But Japan has been centering her smaller air force first on one and then another of the critical battlegrounds of the Pacific. Over each in turn, Japan has had a heavy superiority.

Then why can't reinforcements be sent? No other question outranks this among the problems facing the Navy now. To move a convoy over the direct route to the Philippines would take a large naval force, a strong air escort, would require a month and would invite risk of a major battle.

To use either of two longer routes south of Africa or between the Indies and Australia would take two months and would get rid of part but not all the danger. Reinforcements to the Philippines must fight their way through submarines, surface warships and airplanes. To send a weak escort risks disaster. But the larger the force, the greater the challenge to Japan to come and fight.

Why are the British handicapped at Singapore? If distance is the key that operates against the United States in the Philippines, why doesn't it work against the Japanese fighting in Malaya, 3000 miles away from home? The British are much nearer than that to help from Australia or India. Yet the British are fighting stronger forces of men and equipment. Why? Apparently they, like the Americans, did not think Japan would fight and were caught off guard in spite of repeated warnings.

What has become of the United States Navy? A screen of secrecy hides the Navy's movements. When and where it will strike is the biggest question mark of the Pacific war.

Where is the much-vaunted Navy air force? The Navy acquired 2059 new airplanes in the year ending last July 1. Deliveries have been stepping up since then. The Navy has more than 4000 planes in service now, and by next July is scheduled to have double that number.

The question is: What would happen if the Navy's air force were turned loose in the Far Pacific where the Philippines are hard-pressed and Singapore is fighting for its life? That question could only be answered in open combat. But the Navy air force may be one of the weapons of the United States having the power to save the Philippines, Singapore or perhaps both.

What if the Philippines are lost? Gen. MacArthur said that it would take a half million men and 10 billion dollars' worth of equipment to win the islands back again. That is a soldier's measure of Japan's victory if she should take the Philippines.

Can Singapore be taken? Now that the Japanese are fighting their way down the Malay Peninsula, the British defenders are finding that Singapore has points of weakness. The value of the fortress as a base is reduced if it is subject to repeated air attack. As a result, instead of putting their time and money into improving Singapore itself, the British are learning the need for building stronger outposts. Singapore is not quite so impregnable as once thought.

What if Singapore is lost? Then the Japanese have won their first great objective. In the opening weeks of war, they have seized an advantage so important they hope it might prove unbeatable. If, after Hongkong, Singapore and Manila fall, then Japan will hope she has won the war. But at the very least, she will have gained the resources to carry on a long war.

What are the chances to hold both Malaya and the Philippines? It will be the next thing to a miracle if the Philippines hold out. But both could be held if one important condition could be met—if strong reinforcements of materials and men reach them promptly. They can be held if the familiar reason for Axis defeat of Allied forces—too little and too late—is not repeated now.

But there is still another way in which these strongholds can be kept out of Japan's hands. That is through carrying air war directly to Japan so as to force her to pull in her air and sea forces to protect the home front. This comes down to the question whether Russia, relieved of some pressure on the German front, will join in the fight on the Axis in Asia.

If Russia provides air bases on Kamchatka or at Vladivostok for American planes to attack military objectives in Japan, then the Philippines and Singapore can be held. Keeping these strongholds might turn out to be equivalent to winning the war in the long run. It is from them that a real offensive can be launched.

A Guide for Record Buyers, By a Critic and Ex-Teac

"A Guide to Recorded Music," by Irving Ko (Doubleday, Doran & Co., New York.)

THE great increase of popular int in recorded music in recent years opened a field not only for periodical views of new discs, but also for critical praisal of the vast library of serious represented by the fat catalogues of the rious manufacturers.

For the critic, there are two pos approaches to this vast undertaking. may, for instance, assume that he is expected to evaluate musical composit as such, to say that Beethoven's Fifth S phony is superior to Tschaikowsky's S and why. He may expect his reader have a sufficient knowledge of music a sufficiently well-developed taste to such questions for himself.

Or, like B. H. Haggin, while prima concerned with records, he may assume the reader who seeks his guidance is or less of a musical tyro and would lik know whether to begin a record collec with a Bach oratorio or a Sibelius poem, or the most generally satisfac way of investing, say, $100 in records

Mr. Kolodin has, in the main, taken first of these views of his job. He therefore, compiled an encyclopedic lis compositions, arranged according to form, under the names of the compos The various recordings of each work given, with symbols to indicate the rela quality of the reproduction, the co tence of the interpretation and the fair of the price. There is also a sentence two giving in very condensed form basis for these judgments.

Thus, it will be seen that this boo primarily for those with a fairly wide quaintance with musical literature. them, it should be a very practical valuable help in the buying of records. the less deeply initiated, it will be less ful, unless supplemented by a guide to music itself.

It needs to be said, of course, that author's taste is a factor in all discuss of music and records. Here, more almost anywhere else, one man's meat be another man's poison. However, very nature of the Kolodin guide consi ably reduces the incidence of this facto

In the main, the book attempts to whether a specific record is a good jo not, regardless of the author's attitude ward the music. On the mechanical this is fairly easy, but there are opport ties for the display of personal preferen and prejudices when it comes to evalua the performances of the various artists.

Since this is inevitable in any such g the reader will naturally seek one w the hand of a man whose judgments he respect. Mr. Kolodin, the record critic the New York Sun, should qualify as a man. He was formerly on the fac of the New York Institute of Medical A a teacher of harmony and counterpoint, he is about as objective as can be expe in a highly subjective field.

POST-DISPATCH REQUESTS NEWS OF WAR CASUALTIES REPORTED TO RELATIVES

IN VIEW of the announcement by the Navy Department that casualty lists would not be made public, and the announced intention of the War Department to adopt the same policy, news of the death or injury of men in the armed forces can come only from their relatives.

President Roosevelt suggested at his press conference Dec. 12 that individual newspapers might obtain such information from relatives after the next of kin had been notified. The Government is withholding casualty lists because their compilation might be of value to the enemy.

Persons in the St. Louis area who are notified of the death or injury of a member of the country's armed forces are requested to communicate this information to the City Editor phone number is Main 1111.

ed war program. They should be imposed in order to conserve resources. They should be imposed so that when rationing has been set up, there will still be a supply of civilian goods to ration fairly. They should be imposed so that the civilian population may become used at once to the new ways of living which total war demands. They should be imposed because an immediate abrupt shock to ordinary habits will arouse energy whereas gradualism will merely cause inconvenience and grumbling. They should be imposed so that the military planners in fixing their requirements will not have to hesitate or compromise in the face of private interests or of civilian political pressure.

THIS is the only practical way to launch the all-out war program and mobilize at once the vast unused energies of the people. It will cause a great dislocation. But to be at war, not phony war but real war, is to be dislocated. The lives of our soldiers and sailors are very much dislocated, and we shall not be supporting them unless our lives also are dislocated in order that they may have in overflowing abundance all the weapons that they need.

The lives of all the peoples are dislocated in the countries with which we are allied, dislocated by invasion, by bombing, by blockade, and by war work. The dislocation of a considerable part of our convertible commercial industry, and the dislocation of many of our civilian comforts, luxuries and conveniences, is for us the immediate and not very trying equivalent to being invaded and bombed. To accept it heartily is not even to be heroic, but just to use ordinary common sense and public spirit.

THIS does not mean that nothing should be done to mitigate the effects of the dislocation. Far from it. While it does mean that the military planning and military operations and military production must be given the right of way, there is work to be done by the non-military agencies of the Government in relieving the effects. The planning and organizing of this relief is the true function of civilian defense—once it is separated, as it should promptly be, from the task of supplying military protection against air raids and sabotage, and of policing against emergencies, disasters and disorders.

Fortunately for us, unlike any other country at war, the real necessities of life — food, clothing, shelter, transportation, public health, education and recreation—exist in sufficient abundance to make it certain, that with proper organization and with a fair system of rationing, no one need suffer irreparably by the dislocation of economic activity. This is the field of civilian defense, and if it is conducted with efficiency and a true sense of its functions, civilian defense can make of its work in relieving the effects of the dislocation, a mighty practical experience in self-reliance, in neighborliness, and in good fellowship.

MAKING NORMANDIE NAVY AUXILIARY SHIP

Fastest, Biggest in World—Could Carry More Than 12,000 Soldiers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—The $60,000,000 liner Normandie, once the pride of the French merchant marine, is rapidly being converted into the largest and fastest naval auxiliary ship in the world, headquarters of the Third Naval District said yesterday.

Navy officers allowed reporters to interview Lieut. Com. Lester C. Scott, U. S. N. R., who has charge of converting the 83,423-ton liner into a unit of the fleet.

Several thousand workmen swarmed over the giant liner, painting it wartime gray, sealing up portholes that once gleamed with bright lights, and preparing to lay gun mounts.

Naval officers stressed the care being given more than $2,000,000 worth of art treasures, statuettes, painted glass and other objects, which were removed from the ship to be stored. To be stored also is $20,000 worth of rare wines.

The Government's "straight seizure" of the liner means that America will pay France a sum which will be fixed in the Federal Court of Claims after the war.

Com. Scott could not say how the Normandie would be used but other officers pointed out that spectators from the street could see that it was not being converted into an aircraft carrier.

If used as a troop transport it could carry more than 12,000 soldiers.

Four-foot high metal letters spelling the name Normandie were being removed from the ship's bow. It has been renamed the Lafayette, but will carry no name during wartime activity.

The spacious swimming pool will be removed but the chapel seating 300 persons and the theater will remain for the crew.

This incident was revealed:

The day Coast Guardsmen boarded the Normandie its French captain and crew made no protest and had only one request—that the French flag be allowed to remain until all Frenchmen had left.

Guardsmen granted the request and went even further.

They allowed the captain to remain aboard all night and rigged up a special searchlight which shone on the flag. It was their tribute to the ship and the French nation.

Sweden's largest and finest passenger ship, the 20,067-ton Kungsholm, purchased by the United States, was turned over to the Government at formal ceremonies yesterday. Washington officials said the liner, famed for its West Indies cruise service, would be sent to Lisbon soon to exchange Axis diplomatic officials for American officials.

THE REV. JOHN F. ADRIAN FUNERAL AT 10 MONDAY

Funeral services for the Rev. John F. Adrian, pastor and founder of Corpus Christi Catholic Church, 8442 Jennings road, Jennings, will be Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. The body will be at the W. A. Stock funeral establishment, Grand and Florissant avenues, until noon tomorrow.

NBC PRESIDENT DENIES MONOPOLY CHARGE

Insists Radio Network Competition Is Keen, Present No Time to Impair Service.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—Keen competition exists in all phases of the radio broadcasting industry, said Niles Trammell, president of the National Broadcasting Co., in a statement today denying charges of monopoly made by the Government in an anti-trust suit filed at Chicago against NBC, Radio Corporation of America, and Columbia Broadcasting System.

One result sought by the Government is separation of ownership of the Red and Blue broadcasting networks, both now owned by NBC. The suit also seeks to restrain the broadcasting systems from making certain types of contracts which are alleged to have the effect of restricting affiliated radio stations exclusively to the programs of one national network.

The questions raised in the anti-trust suit are virtually those that were in dispute last summer when the Federal Communications Commission issued new regulations governing the issuance of licenses to broadcasters. The effective date of these regulations was suspended by FCC when the networks filed a suit, not yet tried, to enjoin their enforcement.

Action Comes as Surprise.

Trammell expressed surprise that the Department of Justice had undertaken by means of the anti-trust suit to enforce the disputed policies when the issue is still pending in court in connection with the FCC regulations. The FCC had said that even if NBC should be required to dispose of one of its networks it should be given time to do so in an orderly manner so as to avoid unnecessary loss.

"The confusion as to the purpose of this new Chicago suit," Trammell said, "is heightened by the fact that since the declaration of war other high authorities of the Government have expressed to us their wish that nothing be done to disturb the present network structures of the National Broadcasting Co., as the full facilities of these networks are urgently needed to serve the Government and the public during the present war.

"I can imagine nothing more certain to destroy this national asset than to follow the plan of receivership and liquidation now demanded by the Department of Justice.

"Keenest Competition".

"The American public knows only to well that no monopoly exists in radio broadcasting. On the contrary, there is the keenest competition for stations, for artists, for programs, for advertising clients and for the listeners' attention. This is the American system of free radio which is now threatened."

Trammell pointed out that NBC already had adjusted some practices to conform to the new regulations of the Federal Communications Commission so as to avoid unnecessary disputes in time of war.

"To experiment now with this valuable medium of mass communication will jeopardize a great and necessary national asset," he said. "Wartime is no time to impair or destroy the cohesiveness and public usefulness of national networks."

BALLET RUSSE IN FIRST OF 4 PERFORMANCES

Presents New Work 'Saratoga' —Principal Dancers Satisfying.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo returned to St. Louis last night for its annual series of four performances under the auspices of the St. Louis Symphony Society and in collaboration with the orchestra. Though the Municipal Auditorium was not so generously filled as on previous opening nights, the considerable body of local ballet addicts was well represented in the audience and, as usual, was favorably predisposed toward the performers even before the curtains had parted.

Unfortunately the proceedings on the stage were not conducive to the preservation of a fine edge of excitement. It was not that the performance was measurably below the technical standards of previous seasons. All three ballets were executed smoothly enough. But in the past one was induced to overlook incidental departures from hair-trigger precision because one's attention had been held by a reasonably taut line of development and one's emotions had been stirred by climactic explosions. Instead the whole evening was on pretty much of a dead level without perceptible tension and certainly without any sudden and heart-stirring surges.

New Work, "Saratoga."

The new production of the evening was Leonide Massine's "Saratoga," with libretto and music by Jaromir Weinberger, costumes by Alvin Colt and scenery by Alvin Smith. The action was full of charming conceits, the set was atmospheric and a number of the individual episodes were enacted with pointed and engaging humor. The dead weight of Weinberger's inept music was evidently too great a handicap even for Massine's resourceful creative powers, for nothing that the dancers could do was enough to release the fancy or stir the senses. The intention was clear enough from the exaggerated humor of the costumes and the action. But the music was always missing the point. Nothing could have been more inappropriate than the harmonization and instrumentation of the "Georgia Camp Meeting" which was the accompaniment of a cake walk done by Massine and Tamara Toumonova.

Even so, Mme. Toumonova was a welcome presence in the cast. She did not seem wholly relaxed either in "Saratoga" or the preceding "Rouge et Noir," but the temperament was in evidence and there was reason to believe that given a more congenial role the sparks would fly again.

Alexandra Danilova made a considerable personal success with her deftness and precision and her charmingly sustained characterization. Massine was also very authoritative in his brief appearance, and Frederick Franklin, as the impulsive jockey, showed a heartening agility, vitality and assurance.

"Rouge et Noir" Successful.

As an exercise in composition, "Rouge et Noir" was the most successful venture of the evening. Indeed, it was very successful, for the interrelation of mass and detail was wholly satisfying in its plastic flow. Its abstract nature, however, militated against a sustained continuity, and despite the smoothness of its transitions and the sensually gratifying use of color it was still just a series of pictures. Point by point it was an effective externalization of the music of the Shostakovitch First Symphony, but one had to listen to the music to get the sustained argument.

The performance was opened with "Vienna—1814" to music by Carl Maria von Weber and with the libretto and choreography also by Massine. This was an essay in early Nineteenth Century charm, but the soaring, romantic pulsations which were suggested by the costumes and the plot did not materialize. Mme. Danilova, as usual, left a very favorable impression, and numerous other dancers made pleasant individual contributions, but the performance as a whole was prosaic. The orchestra under Franz Allers provided an uneven support.

Efrem Kurtz conducted the orchestra in "Rouge et Noir" and "Saratoga" and turned out a clear and vitalized performance of the Shostakovitch symphony. The playing of this symphony, in fact, was one of the chief features of the evening. The music for "Saratoga" offered no possibility for informed or poetic conducting. I have remarked on its inappropriateness. As music alone it was worse than the worst of Victor Herbert.

The second and third performances of the ballet will take place this afternoon and evening.

GUIDE TO THE NEW MOVIES

By Colvin McPherson

REMEMBER THE DAY—Claudette Colbert as a grade-school teacher of 1914, John Payne as teacher's pet. Excellent sentimental drama, beautifully acted and directed. With "Don't Get Personal," which is as gay as Hugh Herbert, its star. At the AMBASSADOR.

BABES ON BROADWAY—Mickey Rooney acting everything from crazy to Carmen Miranda, in a huge musical show. Judy Garland is co-starred, and it's great stuff, if you like that much Rooney. At LOEW'S.

BIRTH OF THE BLUES—Bing Crosby adds swing music to his already large family of children. Very easy to listen to, since there are many old song favorites. With "Henry Aldrich for President," about high school, at the FOX.

HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY—Dreamy recollection of a boyhood in Wales. Continued run for this, with the wacky Bob Hope farce, "Nothing But the Truth," at the MISSOURI.

I WAKE UP SCREAMING—Or is it scramming? Victor Mature keeping away from the cops. Former title was "Hot Spot." With "Suspicion," in which Joan Fontaine thinks Cary Grant is going to kill her and ought to know better. Resumed run, or something of the sort, at the ST. LOUIS.

OUR ENEMY, THE JAPANESE

War Supplies and Economy

Article V

The Chicago Daily News—Post-Dispatch Foreign Service Special Correspondence. Copyright, 1942.

ONCE in a small town in Inner Mongolia I stood beside a Chinese Colonel watching a contingent of Chinese infantry being moved toward Peking to fight the Japanese. I asked the Chinese Colonel to stop one of the marching men and show me his rifle. He did. The rifle was made in Japan.

Recently in a corner drugstore a lad behind the counter said he was enlisting in the Navy. Then he added, "and the sad part of it is I shall face the possibility of being shot at by Japanese guns using American shells."

Japan has always lacked raw materials and we have always supplied them in generous quantities. The Japanese have generally paid cash, or sold us silk and we have called them honest businessmen. Japanese women, it might be said here, never wear and never have worn silk hosiery or silk lingerie. Silk was too valuable as a national commodity, especially as it could establish credit in America for the raw war materials Japan urgently needed.

Danger Signals.

Japan saw the first danger signals hoisted when American girls and women started to boycott silk hosiery, and knew it must act fast to store up oil, iron, rubber and other war essentials.

Japan, as every boy has been taught, lacks essential raw materials; oil, rubber, manganese tungsten, cotton, iron. It got what it could, stored and hoarded. The present war is being fought with those stored materials.

How long can Japan continue to fight before it cracks economically? Navy people who should know say two years. Japan, they say, can replace its planes at the rate of 5000 a year, but only for a period of two years. The same is given as the life of its oil supplies.

Maybe the experts know nothing about it. One thing of which you may be sure is that most of Japan's published figures of its imports have been deliberately understated. Most nations exaggerate. They want the enemy to be afraid of their power and resources. Japan's intention in understating these figures, so I was told, was to lull the Chinese—and the outside world, too—into a feeling that Japan was weak. It's an old Asiatic custom.

Low Scale of Living.

Again, there is no denying that the Japanese live on a very low economic plane. The population of Japan have been caught in that vicious vise: "Japan must expand territorially to take care of its tremendous increase in population. Mothers, we need more children."

Not only did it lack food, it lacked markets in which to sell its goods to provide the food. It also lacked modern instruments of war. Obligingly, for adequate fees, American plane designers went to Japan and showed the Japanese how to build planes, transports, fighters, bombers. British, German and French showed them how to build battleships. And Japan strained its economic resources to build up its war machine.

The average Japanese paid for this. He saw things disappear from his table. He saw the comforts of life taken from him. What the average American saw in his travels in Tokyo, Yokohama, Kobe, and perhaps Osaka was only the facade of the nation. Behind that facade, of the usual tourist routes, lay an unhealthy, starving, sick nation. There you will annually find famine. You will find 95 per cent of the revenue going into the military machine and none of it finding its way back into the small towns and villages.

You will find, as I have found, farmers literally selling their daughters—in Tokyo brothels (a Government monopoly) or into factories. The fathers get a few months' pay, a beggar's wage, and the entrepreneur gets the wages for the remainder of the three or four year servitude. Three years is about all the length of time these girls are good for. They develop tuberculosis, cancer of the stomach from poor food, and trachoma. They return to the farm or village and die off within a short time. They cannot marry, for under Japanese custom the bride provides the dowry, the household of furniture, and these girls are penniless. They have been sacrificed for the war machine.

What food will you find on the table? Rice—it is filling, and so it can make people fairly contented with their lot. Dried fish, bean soup, dried seaweed and mustard pickled radish. Meat is rare and expensive. You will find that in the expensive hotels and restaurants on tourist routes.

Kept at a bare subsistence level, the Japanese peasants are hard workers. They do not complain. Will they revolt under this form or servitude? Probably not. They will bow toward the Imperial palace in Tokyo, read the doctored war news, cheer when told to and go about their jobs.

The patience of the Asiatic is eternal. He has never known anything different. This is his life. Except for shorter rations, more deaths in the ranks of the conscripts, times aren't much different than they were for his father and grandfather.

And yet, who can fathom the depths of the heart of any one of these patient peasants? He hasn't seen enough foreigners, Americans, to fear, hate or love them. That his rulers call them the enemy is enough for him. He may not like his rulers, but he isn't going to dispute the point with them.

MUSSOLINI TELLS PARTY CHIEFS TO INCREASE WORK

Orders Them to Convert Italian People Into 'Solid Block of Will and Energy.'

ROME, Jan. 3 (Andi Agency to AP).—Orders to convert Italians into a "solid block of will and energy" were given today to Fascist party leaders by Premier Mussolini.

He said his orders must be impressed on party executives so as to increase the party's activity in all fields.

Mussolini told his men he would follow more closely their activity and would personally receive reports from party leaders in Italy's southern provinces, including Sicily.

He received assurances from the newly appointed party secretary, Aldo Vidussoni, that recent changes in leadership took place "in a friendly manner" and that "nothing has been halted in party organization as a result."

The occasion of the rally was the anniversary of Mussolini's speech of Jan. 3, 1925, which he had ordered all party leaders to read in public during the day.

The 1925 speech said of an anti-Fascist movement: "When two parties are struggling, the solution lies in force. There has never been another solution and there never will be."

STOCK TRADE VOLUME GOOD; FIRM CLOSE ON REBUYING

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—Reinvestment demand in today's stock market again more than offset cloudy war news from the Far East and leading issues added fractions to more than a point to yesterday's rally.

While volume was less than half that of a week ago, the turnover of 516,840 shares exceeded most Saturdays in 1941.

Rails, mail orders, sugars, farm implements, aircrafts and specialties were the principal performers on the upside. Steels, motors and rubbers were relatively narrow. Oils generally failed to do much on the recovery push.

Many who had cleaned their shelves of securities in December in order to register sizable losses for income tax purposes were said to have reinstated commitments.

The occupation of Manila and Cavite by the Japanese invaders, and threats to Corregidor and other parts of the Philippines, as well as Singapore and Malaya, were far from bullish market factors but, as Wall Streeters pointed out, the final round in the battle of the Orient has yet to be fought and confidence still was high regarding the outcome.

Prominent shares in the front ranks most of the time—some eventually slipped—were Union Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, J. C. Penney, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Western Union, J. I. Case, Caterpillar Tractor, Fajardo Sugar, South Porto Rico Sugar, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft and Sperry.

COMMODITIES

Commodity prices advanced with a solid front in major futures markets, Saturday.

The dominant factor was the prospect that pending legislation would ultimately provide that ceiling prices on farm products would be fixed at 110 per cent of parity or more.

Cotton at New York weathered heavy profit-taking and scored gains of 40 to 60 cents a bale. Final prices were the highest since 1929.

Trade in cottonseed oil at New York resumed after a three-week suspension and prices promptly jumped the 1-cent-a-pound permissible daily limit. Price ceilings were revised upward Friday.

Cocoa and coffee also advanced, but wool tops declined.

The Associated Press weighted index of 35 wholesale spot staples, based on 1926 as 100, reached a new four-year high at 95.72. This compared with 95.54 Friday.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 40C TO 60C A BALE HIGHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP). — Cotton futures extended their gains today on trade and speculative buying stimulated by yesterday's Senate committee action on farm price control.

The advance was as much as $1.45 a bale before hedge selling and profit taking entered the market. Mill buying was encouraged by the strong spot basis in the South.

Futures closed 40 to 60 cents a bale higher.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan 3 (AP).—Rail issues displayed renewed buoyancy in the bond market today.

Continuing an upward thrust which started late Friday, the carriers rose fractions to more than 2 points by forepart of last hour of the short session. Demand spread to other groups but gains were smaller.

Dealers said most of the buying was done by operators who disposed of holdings last month to establish tax losses. This reinvestment demand, they said, enabled the market to buck unpleasant news from the Philippines.

U. S. Governments inched ahead 1-32 to 3-32 of a point.

Latin American issues again captured interest in the foreign group. Buenos Aires 4½s rose 2 points at one time and Mexican and Uruguayan bonds added around one point.

Corporates ahead included Nickel Plate 5½s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of '62 "A," Bangor & Aroostook convertible 4s, Chicago Railway 5s, New Haven 4s of '47, International Hydro Electric 6s and American & Foreign Power 5s.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The Federal Reserve Board estimated that the final rush of Christmas shopping boosted department store sales in the week ended Dec. 27 to a volume 39 per cent greater than in the corresponding week in 1940.

Part of this increase, however, the board said might be due to the fact that last Christmas fell on Thursday giving shoppers three full days between Sunday and Christmas, while in the preceding year Christmas was on Wednesday and there were only two days between Sunday and the holiday for shopping.

In the week ended Dec. 20, sales had been 7 per cent above the similar week in 1940 and in the four weeks ended Dec. 27 sales averaged 11 per cent more than in the similar portion of 1940.

By Federal Reserve districts, percentage increases in the week ended Dec. 27 or the corresponding week in 1940 were: Boston 34, New York 35, Philadelphia 54, Cleveland 43, Richmond 48, Atlanta 44, Chicago 38, St. Louis 42, Kansas City 35, Dallas 40, and San Francisco 36 per cent.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER, SOYBEANS ARE MIXED

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 (AP).—Renewed buying lifted wheat more than a cent a bushel, rye fractions to more than 3 cents and other grains fractionally today as the market continued to reflect revived investment and commercial buying associated with advancement of legislation providing for comparatively high minimum ceilings for cereal prices.

Wheat was the highest in about three weeks and some contracts of other grains were around best levels for the past two or three months with all quotations near peaks since 1937.

Evidence of producers' reluctance to market substantial amounts of grain at prevailing prices in view of the war situation and ceiling levels was the fundamental bullish trade factor. Shipping business in corn continued brisk.

Wheat closed 1@1¼ cents higher than yesterday; corn ⅛@¾c up; oats, ¼@⅜c up; rye, ¾@2½c higher; soybeans, ⅜c lower to ¼c higher.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Jan. 3.—In the cash grain section of the market today wheat was ½@1c higher, corn ½c higher and oats steady.

Sales made on the floor of the exchange were as follows:

WHEAT—No. 3 red winter 1.32½, sample grade red winter 1.25, No. 1 light garlicky 1.34, No. 2 light garlicky 1.31½, No. 3 red garlicky 1.31½, No. 2 hard 1.29@1.31½, No. 3 mixed 1.31.

192,171 FEWER FREIGHT CARS LOADED DURING WEEK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The Association of American Railroads reported today that 606,526 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday.

This was a decrease of 192,171 cars or 24.1 per cent compared with the preceding week, an increase of 61,219 cars or 11.2 per cent compared with a year ago, and an increase of 58,462 cars or 10.7 per cent compared with 1939.

The association also reported today that loading of revenue freight in 1941 totaled 42 284,927.

This was an increase of 5,927,073 cars, or 16.3 per cent, compared with the preceding year; an increase of 8,373,429 cars, or 24.7 per cent, compared with 1939.

All classes showed declines, particularly miscellaneous freight and coal. The drop in total loadings was of more than seasonal proportions.

COTTON SEED OIL FUTURES TRADE RESUMED WITH RISE

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—The May cottonseed oil contract shot up .99 of a cent to 13.60 cents a pound when trade resumed today in the New York Produce Exchange after being suspended since Dec. 15. Other deliveries ranged from .88 to .95 of a cent a pound higher.

The daily allowable fluctuation is 1 cent a pound.

The soybean oil market also reopened with prices nominally ¾ of a cent a pound higher, but no sales were made. Deliveries from January through July were priced at 11½ cents a pound.

The suspension had been ordered after Federal authorities put price ceilings on a long list of fats and oils. These ceilings were revised upward last Thursday.

Cottonseed oil futures ceiling prices under the Federal order are: January, 13.92 cents a pound; March, 13.95; May, 13.98; July, 13.98. Soybean oil futures ceilings are: 12 cents for January through July.

LEE SAVOLD, who is taking the baths at Hot Springs, Ark., has been offered a fight with TURKEY THOMPSON at Los Angeles, Jan. 27. . . . NAT FLEISCHER will referee the Billy Conn - Harry Cooper fight at Toledo Jan. 12. Writes BILLY KELLY, Buffalo Courier and Express: "You can bet all the divots on a dub club's fairway that there will be a greater shortage of caddies than there will be of golfballs, due to enlistments, the draft and the temptation of industrial employment and wartime wages."

DES SMITH, the Boston Bruins' big defense man, who isn't exactly a stranger to the penalty box, got into one by accident the other night. . . . He missed connections with a terrific body check he threw at Toronto's LORNE CARR, busted through the door and got himself tangled in the mechanism that works the big clock. . . . They had to stop the game while he got loose.

KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY'S basketball team swept to a 62-32 victory over Washington and Lee. . . . MILT TICCO was the top scorer with 16 points. . . . ANTON CHRISTOFORIDIS punched out a 10-round decision over George Burnette, Michigan middleweight champion, in a bout at Detroit. . . . MANUEL ORTIZ won a split decision and the California bantam championship, beating Tony Olivera in 10 rounds. . . . Favorites have come home first in 28 of the 88 races run in the first 11 days of the TROPICAL PARK meeting.

In the Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—Hank Greenberg, former Detroit baseball player who celebrated his thirty-first birthday Thursday, enlisted in the United States Army two weeks ago he told friends yesterday.

"I am definitely through with baseball—for the duration," he added.

Greenberg, the American League's most valuable player of 1940, was drafted in early summer but was released on Dec. 5 because he was over the 28-year age limit. He spent most of his time at Fort Custer, Mich., with an anti-tank outfit.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3 (AP).—Rn underdog West team piled into its favored Eastern opponent today in the seventeenth annual Shrine East-West all-star football game. Barely one-third of the vast 73,000-seat Sugar Bowl was occupied.

FIRST QUARTER.

Bob Westfall of Michigan and Bill Dudley of Virginia ripped the West line for 35 yards on a half dozen slashing plays before Tackle Bob Reinhard of California intercepted a Dudley pass on the West 40-yard line. The East took it right back with another interception in midfield and Dudley kicked out of bounds on the West 35. The East was set back to its own 20-yard mark after a West punt when Center Bob Ingalls of Michigan was charged with clipping. Dudley kicked to midfield.

Bill Sewell of Washington State whipped a 12-yard pass to Henry Stanton of Arizona from the West 45-yard line. Jack Wilson of Baylor picked up two yards through the line and then Bob Robertson of California swept right end 18 yard to the East 27. The West was penalized 15 yards for holding. Sewell punted out of bounds on the East 4-yard line. Dudley kicked out to his 45.

Sewell's pass was intercepted by Dudley who brought it up five yards to his 40-yard line. Westfall and Dudley banged the line for two successive first downs to the West 35-yard mark. The scoreless quarter ended with the East on the 32.

SECOND QUARTER.

The West took the ball on downs on its 30-yard line, promptly lost five for offside. Jack Jacobs of Oklahoma boomed out a punt to Bill DeCorrevont of Northwestern on the East 35-yard mark, and the speedster returned 10 yards. DeCorrevont punted. Fresh in the game, Frankie Albert of Stanford snatched the kick on his 15-yard mark and raced 53 yards to the East 33-yard mark before going out of bounds. A lateral, Albert to Bob Brumley of Rice, lost five. After two plunges, Sewell punted to Geyer who was downed on the East three. DeCorrevont punted out to the 38, and the drive started again.

Pro Stars Will Use Air Lines

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—Chicago's professional football Bears, who got in the first lick of the 1941 campaign against the college all-stars, will apply the finishing touches to the national gridiron picture tomorrow against a picked squad from their own play-for-pay league.

Shunted across the country by the war, the post-season struggle is the fourth in a series of annual affairs between the National League champs and the outstanding players from the loop's nine other teams.

Three previous games on the Pacific Coast all resulted in defeat for the all-star clubs, but this season's outfit is rated as stronger than its predecessors. For that matter, so are the Bears.

That is why more than 40,000 customers are expected to troop into the Polo Grounds at a top of $4.40 a head, with half of the gross going to the Navy Relief Society.

Will Go to the Air.

It will be the twentieth outing of the fall and winter for the Bears, who refuse to hibernate so long as there is football to be played. They started the season as National Pro League champions and finished the same way, dropping the New York Giants, 37-9, in the finale to become the first title holders to repeat since the playoff system was inaugurated in 1933.

Steve Owen of the Giants, who automatically became coach of the stars when his Eastern champions lost in the playoff, isn't hiding the fact that he is cooking up a mess of overhead trouble for the Bears.

With such pitchers as Sammy Baugh, Cecil Isbell, Frank Filchock, Tuffy Leemans and Dick Riffle tossing to Catchers Don Hutson, Perry Schwartz, Dick Humbert and Bill Dewell, nobody expects the all-stars to stick to the ground.

Has Three First Teams.

Coach George Halas, who has been drilling his Bears on aerial defense this week, has built up a 33-man squad so well balanced he doesn't know which of his three units is best.

"We have three solid first teams," said the Bear coach, "with backs interchangeable. If my first-string backs—Sid Luckman, Ray Nolting, Hugh Gallarneau and Norman Standlee—don't catch fire, I throw in Bob Snyder, Bob Swisher, George McAfee and Bill Osmanski.

"If they don't run, I've got young Bussey, Harry Clark, Ray McLean, Gary Famiglietti or Joe Maniaci."

Owen has two backfield combinations which have been operating together at their Long Island training base. One includes Baugh, Pug Manders, Art Jones and Nello Falaschi, while the other is composed of Isbell, Leemans, Larry Craig and Ward Cuff.

Texas Aggies, Beaten By Oregon, Face the Bears Here Tonight

By James M. Gould.

After an absence of two weeks, collegiate basketball returns to St. Louis tonight when the Washington University Bears, who have been giving a good account of themselves in the gugher strata of the game, oppose the Texas Aggies at the Field House. Play starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Including the three games they played in the recent Oklahoma City tournament, the Bears have engaged in eight battles thus far this season and have a .500 percentage to show for their efforts.

Their victories have been over McKendree, Loyola of Chicago, the Missouri Miners and, in tourney play, over Oklahoma City U. They have lost to Iowa, Loyola, Texas Tech and Texas Christian and have made things decidedly interesting for their conquerors.

The Bears' best game was their 40-36 victory over Loyola. After this game, the Chicago five went to the Pacific Coast and cleaned up in a series of games out there.

Team Has Real Offense.

Coach Bob Kinnan has a real offense this season. In eight games, the Bears have scored 292 points, an average of 36.5 per game and, against strong competition at Oklahoma City, averaged 33 points per game. In their three tournament games, Washington's players totaled only seven points less than their opponents. Incidentally, the opposition has scored 284 points.

For the Bears, three players—McConnell, Darnton and Heiser—have been the outstanding marksmen. Darnton is the leader with 99 points with McConnell scoring 64 and Heiser 43. Thus, the trio has accounted for 206 points, or 70 per cent of the Washington total.

At Oklahoma City, the Bears scored 99 points and the sharp-shooting three accounted for 83 of these, or about 84 per cent.

So, if these three men are in top form tonight, the gentlemen from College Station, Tex., will have their work cut out for them tonight.

Next Wednesday night the Bears play Notre Dame at South Bend, and some comparison with the Billikens may be afforded as St. Louis U. was defeated by Notre Dame, 51 to 22.

For both the Bears and Billikens, the Valley Conference season will get under way here next week end with Washington meeting Creighton, defending champion, Friday night, and St. Louis opposing the Omaha Blue Jays, the following evening. Creighton has another great team and is co-favorite with the Oklahoma Aggies for the Valley title.

Flyers Oppose Omaha Six in Game Tonight

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 3.—Hoping to return to winning ways, the St. Louis Flyers will attempt to end the three-game winning streak of the Omaha Knights, here tonight. The St. Louisans will have only eleven players.

Immediately following the encounter, the Flyers will board a midnight train for home where they meet Fort Worth, leader of the Southern division, tomorrow night at the Arena. Thursday the Texas Rangers handed the Flyers their fourth setback of the season and their first at the St. Louis Arena, 4-2. The defeat was the second in three starts for the Flyers.

The Knights have been idle since Tuesday when they trounced Dallas, 11-3, for their third consecutive triumph.

The contest will mark the fourth meeting of the Flyers and Knights and the St. Louisans' second appearance here. In the three games played, the local skaters have come out on the short end, losing twice at St. Louis, 5-0 and 5-3, while suffering a 2-1 reverse here.

Trailed by an injury jinx for the past three weeks the Flyers will play tonight minus the services of forward Nig Brenneman and defenseman Vernon Ayes. Brenneman is out of action with a broken left arm and will be lost to the Flyers for at least another five weeks, while Ayres is expected to return to the Flyers lineup for the game with Fort Worth tomorrow night.

's Cards, Yanks to Win in Doyle's Book

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 3 (AP).—Baseball's too uncertain this for Jack Doyle to be quoting odds yet, but the St. Louis Cardals and the New York Yankees look like pennant winners to the dway betting commissioner.

The game is more unpredictnow than it ever has been beshe explained today. "The rtant factor is the effect of ar. Uncle Sam will be the player next season."

ually ready by this time to his early prices—considered last word by those who follow big league races—Doyle is holdoff now until he can learn h players will be called into Army.

indicated he will have a line ke time the season opens. Remember, no matter how we know," Doyle said, "the hating factor is luck. And it ry belief that over a space of the breaks even themselves

n going to make the Cardinfavorites in the National. They a great young ball club, t forget that in only five ns out of the 154 last year did have their full strength. Of course, it's a young team some of those players may get ed, and that would make a erence."

He sees Brooklyn as a close second.

"It appears to me that Larry MacPhail is trying to staff his club with family men who won't be called into the Army," Doyle added. "The deal in which he acquired Arky Vaughn would indicate that."

Doyle lists Cincinnatti third, commenting that "some of the Reds had a bad year last year, but they might come back again."

As long shots, in order, he named the Giants, Cubs, Pirates, Braves and Phillies.

The Yanks, he said, will be "overwhelming favorites" in the American League.

"It looks like a scramble for second among the Red Sox, the Indians and the Tigers," Doyle added.

He picked the White Sox as a possible dark horse team.

"Jimmy Dykes has a bunch of old players out there in Chicago," he said. "The draft might not bother them much, and Dykes knows how to get a lot out of a team."

Frisch Plans to Use Pirate Youngsters Until Army Gets Them

Says Club Profited By Trade

Pittsburgh Manager Is Counting Heavily on Billy Cox, 20-Year-Old Shortstop.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 3 (AP). —Frankie Frisch said yesterday "baseball can take it" when war starts dealing 'em off the bottom of the deck.

"I don't know what this war is going to do to the game," Frankie commented at a hospital where he is laid up with an old foot injury, "but I'm certain it won't wreck it—any more than the Japs will wreck the nation, even if they did slip over a few dirty punches."

The Pittsburgh Pirates' manager believes the nation needs recreation as a wartime morale builder "and baseball can help fill the prescription."

If the draft decimates his relatively young Pirate lineup, Frankie wisecracked:

"I'll play myself."

Frisch doesn't expect to resort to that exigency, but he added:

"I intend to play my youngsters as long as I can and when Uncle Sam calls them, I'll hope they bat .400 against the Japs and Nazis alike."

Frisch cited the case of Billy Cox, rookie shortstop and barely 20.

"He's a sweet prospect and I'm not going to wait until 1949 to play him. I intend to use him until the Army wants him."

Frisch thinks the Pirates profited by sending Arky Vaughan to Brooklyn for Babe Phelps, Pete Coscarart, Jim Wasdell and Luke Hamlin but he philosophized:

"Trades may look good on paper but sometimes they can make a monkey of you on the playing field."

Frisch's foot injury, incurred during his playing days, was a source of constant torment until he entered Mercy Hospital here for a corrective operation.

"Boy, it was murder walking last summer," Frank said from a wheel chair, "if everything is okeh now, I'll never regret spending Christmas and New Year's in bed."

St. Paul Club Gets Player From Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 3 (AP). — The Boston Bruins management last night turned over Cliff Thompson, a product of nearby Stoneham, to the St. Paul American Hockey Association club for further seasoning. Thompson, recalled recently from the Bruins' American Hockey League farm at Hershey, Pa., played a total of about 10 minutes in three games for the Stanley Cup champions.

Manager Art Ross said the Bruins would operate with a 14-man squad, a goalie, four defense men and nine forwards. In the event of injuries, he said, such farmhands as Jack Shewchuk, a defense man, and Pat McCreavy, Gordon Bruce and Frank Mario, all forwards, could be recalled from Hershey.

At St. Paul, Thompson, the fourth player from the Boston district the Bruins have engaged in their 17 seasons in the National Hockey League, will be under the direction of Herb Mitchell, who directed the Hershey club last season.

Before entraining for St. Paul, Thompson joined the other Bruin players at the club's season ticket office in a downtown department store to sell war defense bonds and stamps to their admirers. The hockey players disposed of $48,785 worth in five hours.

Sooner Star Is Ineligible

Tucker has been a star in all Sooner games played thus far this season.

Big Ten Basketball Teams Begin Title Drive Tonight

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 (AP).—In the Big Ten basketball race it's Wisconsin—without Gene Englund—against the pack, starting tonight.

The defending champions, balked Wednesday by Dartmouth from running a string of consecutive victories to 20, will open their Western Conference defense against Illinois' sophomore stars tonight at Madison. Then, with hardly a chance to catch their breath, the badgers must shove off for Indiana to meet the expert Hoosiers Monday.

From a red hot start, inspired by such matches as these, the Big Ten promises to race along to its most interesting season, enhanced by new schedule making which forces each team to play every other conference school, 15 league games in all. Six foes will be met twice, and three others once each. The setup gives every contender a chance to spill every other entrant, something shorter schedules previously prevented.

Other headliners on tonight's opening card are Indiana vs. Northwestern at Evanston and Minnesota against Ohio State at Columbus. Iowa, twice a winner and twice beaten, is at Ann Arbor to oppose Michigan, downed three times in four starts. Chicago, pummeled into defeat four times in five games, is exposed to Purdue's sharpshooters at Lafayette.

Wisconsin, whose Gene Englund was second in individual scoring in the 1941 campaign with 162 points in 12 encounters, will clash with an Illinois team that took five or six pre-conference games, bowing only to Chanute Field's Planesmen. Coach Doug Mills of the Illini expected to start four first year men against the Badgers.

Northwestern, paced to three out of four wins by Sophomore Otto Graham, will run up against a Hoosier five averaging six feet, three inches in height, and victor in four of five games. Minnesota, unbeaten in pre-league action, will test an Ohio State club that looked great until it went on a western trip and dropped three straight.

Final standings in the 1941 race:

	W.	L.	Pts.	O.P.
Wisconsin	11	1	536	424
Indiana	10	2	529	415
Illinois	7	5	520	504

Coaches Split on Idea of Using Smaller Hockey Squads

TORONTO, Jan. 3 (AP).—National League hockey coaches are divided on the question of reducing the strength of their clubs from the present 15-player maximum, with the older coaches opposing the suggestion and the younger bosses all for it.

The idea first was suggested by Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers. Hap Day of Toronto and Red Dutton of Brooklyn immediately jumped on the Boucher bandwagon.

Art Ross of the Boston Bruins, oldest coach in the league in point of service, disagreed, and supporting him are Dick Irvin of Montreal and Jack Adams of Detroit. Paul Thompson of Chicago was unavailable.

Boucher contends that war time conditions will reduce the supply of players and that cutting to 12 men the hurry-skurry type of game now in effect would dissolve into a more pleasing brand because the athletes would be forced to conserve their speed and concentrate on stickhandling.

Both Day and Dutton want to go even farther and slash to 10 men.

Just before Ross cut his squad to 14 men yesterday by sending Cliff Thompson to St. Paul of the American Association, he said that "we couldn't get along with fewer players and stick to the schedule we now have. Where would we get replacements for those injured?"

Small squads have been tried before and the spectators didn't like them is the reason Irvin opposes the change.

"After all, we are entertainers, you know. We've got to think of the spectators," Adams added, after explaining that "this is a good game we are playing now. The boys are hard at it all the way and you have fresh men all the time."

Right now Dutton probably would appreciate having a squad of 15 sound hockey players. Handicapped virtually all season by a series of injuries, the Brooklyns are here tonight for a meeting with the Leafs, who are tied with New York in second place.

Gus Marker, out since early November with a wrist fracture, will play for the Americans, but it is likely that Hazen McAndrews, recently called up from Springfield in the American League, will play defense for the bruised Andy Branigan.

In the night's other contest the revamped and revived Detroit Red Wings, with one 1942 victory already to their credit, visit Montreal.

Joe Cronin Is Getting Into Condition, Just in Case---

BOSTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—At 36, when a weary ball player's legs usually seek a soft spot in a corner of the dugout, Joe Cronin is groaning through a daily exercise routine—"just in case."

The stoutish manager of the Boston Red Sox declared at the recent minor leagues' meeting at Jacksonville that he definitely would be a bench manager next season. But he's done a powerful job of hedging since.

That's why today—and tomorrow and every day—you'll find a handsome, chisel-chinned fellow, bundled in a heavy sweat suit and rubber blouse, enduring a heart-breaking and body-punishing training grind at Boston's University Club.

"Just in case," he panted as he pedaled furiously on a stationary bicycle that went nowhere fast. "Just in case Johnny Pesky (from Louisville) and Eddie Pellagrini (from San Diego) don't live up to expectations at shortstop.

"I'd wager one or the other of my kid shortstops will make the grade, but I can't be sure of it.

"Or, just in case," he added, "both Pesky and Pellagrini should be in military service when March rolls around. I understand they're both in deferred classifications, but that's an uncertainty that must be considered."

Cronin intends to head for Florida New Year's day for some more conditioning and then wind up with a course of baths at Hot Springs, Va.

A lot of the railbirds thought he was through before last season opened. But in his 16th big league campaign, the former boy wonder, who managed a pennant-winner for Washington when he was 27, showed 'em.

He didn't prance afield as of yore, but in 143 games he boosted his 1940 batting average of .285 to .311—and swung a mean stick with men on base.

Oklahoma Ace Ruled Ineligible

MANHATTAN, Kan., Jan. 3 (AP). — Dr. H. H. King, Kansas State College, chairman of the Eligibility Committee of the Big Six Athletic Conference, said last night the committee had declared Gerald Tucker, basketball center at the University of Oklahoma, ineligible to play in conference games.

The ruling against Tucker's eligibility, Dr. King said, was based on the conference rule governing migration of athletics. Specifically, he said, the committee after investigation, concluded that the University of Oklahoma had failed to request from Kansas State College approval of Tucker's transfer from Kansas State to Oklahoma in the fall of 1940.

Dr. King said the question as to Tucker's eligibility was not raised by Kansas State, but was brought to the committee's attention by another Big Six Conference member.

An appeal is possible, Dr. King said, from the Eligibility Committee's ruling against Tucker, to the full committee of faculty representatives of the six schools in the conference. Unless such appeal is made and the Eligibility Committee's ruling is reversed, Dr. King said he will not be permitted to participate in any Big Six Conference games.

Dr. King said he had notified Prof. W. W. Kraft, Oklahoma's faculty representative, of the Eligibility Committee's ruling against Tucker. Other members of the Eligibility Committee are Prof. W. W. Davis of the University of Kansas and Dr. H. D. Bergman of Iowa State College.

Tucker is regarded as one of the country's outstanding basketball players.

Thinks Action Unfair.

NORMAN, Ok., Jan. 3 (AP). — Walter Kraft, the University of Oklahoma's Big Six Faculty Committee representative, declared last night that the conference Eligibility Committee's declaration that Gerald Tucker, Sooner sophomore basketball star, was ineligible, was "unfair."

"The action is both unfair and un-American," said Kraft. "We have been accused, tried and convicted without being heard."

He added that none of the Sooner sports heads had been notified that Tucker's case even was being discussed.

Kraft said Dr. H. H. King of Kansas State, the school that Tucker left after seven week's enrollment to attend Oklahoma, is chairman of the Big Six Eligibility Committee and had notified him of the ruling.

Lawrence "Jap" Haskell, Sooner athletic director, and Basketball Coach Bruce Drake refused to comment, pending a meeting today.

Babe Ruth Taken to Hospital for Check

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—Babe Ruth, baseball's former home run king, was taken to a hospital from his Riverside drive apartment early today in a private ambulance.

He was accompanied by his wife and daughter, who later said he had been taken to an unnamed hospital for a "routine checkup."

The apartment house doorman said, however, that Ruth had been carried to the ambulance on a stretcher and appeared to be "a very sick man."

One report was that Ruth was in a nervous condition as a result of an automobile accident.

A friend of the family who declined use of his name said Ruth was ordered to the hospital by his physician for a complete rest.

The friend said that several days ago while the 46-year-old former home-run king was driving his new car near Tuxedo Park, N. Y., he was forced off the road to avoid hitting another machine. Ruth suffered from shock and a highly nervous condition, the friend added.

Ruth's last public appearance was Tuesday night at a party marking his signing of papers for a role in a motion picture depicting the life of the late Lou Gehrig, once Ruth's teammate on the New York Yankees baseball club. He appeared well at that time.

Peden Brothers Lead In Six-Day Bike Race

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 3 (AP).—The Peden brothers, Torchy and Doug, led on points today as 10 teams of sprint-weary bicycle stars settled down to a six-day grind in Milwaukee's ninth international race.

The Pedens jammed their way to a one-lap lead in the first hour last night, but could not hold the pace. In subsequent sprints, however, they picked up enough points to go out in front again.

The standings (tenth hour):

Kovacs and Budge Win In Pro Play

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 3 (AP). —Frankie Kovacs, playing at clowning as much as at tennis, swept to a 6-2, 6-1 victory last night over Gene Mako in a professional tennis match.

Don Budge turned back Bobby Riggs, 7-5, 6-3, in the other singles play. Budge was slow in starting but finally turned on his power when Riggs had a 3-1 lead, and ran out the last game of the opening set with four successive placements.

Kovacs completely overpowered Mako, even while indulging such antics as tossing three balls into the air at one time on a serve.

Fred Perry, former English Davis Cupper who injured his right arm Dec. 26 in Madison Square Garden, expects to rejoin the troupe tomorrow in Albany, N. Y.

Missouri Plays Billiken Five in Game Next Week

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 3 (AP).—Missouri University students will have their first look at the 1942 Mizzou basketball team next Tuesday night when the Tigers meet the St. Louis U. Billikens at Brewer Field House.

In the first game of the season Missouri defeated the Bills, 52-29, at St. Louis.

Coach George Edwards and his charges returned from a tour of the western states on Christmas day. They have a .500 average for the season with victories over Gonzaga, California and St. Louis, and losses to Idaho, Washington and Washington State.

The Tigers start their conference competition at Ames Saturday night, Jan. 10.

Golf Stars on Coast For $10,000 Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3 (AP).—Sam Snead, Johnny Bulla, Tony Penna and Herman Barron arrived on the scene of the $10,000 Los Angeles Open tournament yesterday and two of them proceeded to fire sub-par golf in practice rounds.

Penna treated himself to a 67, four under par, and Snead had a 68. Bulla, last year's winner, turned in a 75.

Another arrival was Fred Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament manager. The tourney opens Friday.

Four Rules Changes Voted by Missouri High School Boar[d]

Four important changes in the eligibility rules for players [in] 760 high schools of the Missouri State High School Athletic Asso[ciation] were made in the December mail ballot. Formal approval requ[ired by] the board of control will be made at a meeting to be held Jan. 24.

The age rule, effective Sept. 1, 1945, will read, "He shall not have reached the age of 20." The old rule, which will be in effect until the 1945 date, allows players to compete until they are 21 years old. Missouri has been one of the few states to keep the 21 year limit. Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, North Carolina and Oklahoma still permit players to compete until they are 21 years old. Most states operate under the 20 year limit. California, Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Oregon and Pennsylvania limit competition to those under 19 years of age, provided, that a player may finish out a season of sport if he reaches the age of 19 after the season has started. Texas limits players to 18 years with permission to finish the season if the birthday occurs within the season. The proposal to lower the age limit in Missouri has failed consistently for many years. The favorable vote this year may be due, in part, to the delayed effective date.

Transfer students are mentioned in the rules of all states. In Missouri the transfer student becomes eligible at once if his parents change residence into the new district at the time of transfer to the new school. If this change of residence does not occur, the transfer student must be in attendance one full semester before he becomes eligible. An exception to this rule was adopted in the recent voting. Hereafter, "in case a transfer is made under circumstances other than the change of residence of parents or the completion of a second or third class high school course, this rule (one semester attendance requirement) will be waived upon the filing with the Secretary of the Board of Control a release on a standard form signed by an administrative officer of the school from which the student transfers." The change will enable many students to become eligible upon the securing of a release from the former school who, under the former rule, would be kept out of athletics for a semester. Many injustices have occurred in the past in localities where bus routes have shifted thus making transfers to other schools necessary and advisable. Private schools, too, have been at a disadvantage because of no defined districts. Recruiting of athletes, it is believed, will not thrive under the new rule for the reason that the release from the former school will not be forthcoming without a good reason for the transfer.

Certain Restrictions.

The third change is the permission for a player to compete in his ninth semester, under certain restrictions. The change reads, "If a student meets all other requirements for eligibility under this Article, he may compete during eight semesters of attendance beginning with his entrance upon ninth grade work, if his eighth semester follows immediately his seventh semester, and he may compete in that portion of his ninth semester as may occur before he has reached the age of nineteen on condition that he has been regularly enrolled for consecutive seventh, eighth and ninth semesters. Twenty days of attendance in any semester shall constitute a semester of attendance for the purpose of this rule." This does not allow post-graduates to compete. The Association retains the rule which makes graduates ineligible. It is well known, however, that a few students have been forced to spend four and a [half] years in high school. This new [rule] will permit competition in [the] ninth semester for undergrad[uates] until they reach the age of [19] years. This does not give a p[layer] five seasons in a given sport. [The] four-season-competition rule [is] retained.

The fourth change affects [the] the A. B. C. League in St. L[ouis] County. It permits them to op[erate] under their own eligibility [rules] within the league. They w[ill be] governed by their respective [state] association rules when comp[eting] outside their league. The l[eague] is made up of four private sch[ools,] John Burroughs, Principia, [St.] Louis Country Day in Mis[souri] and Western Military Academ[y,] Alton, Ill.

There were 299 mail ballots [cast] and each of the adopted prop[osals] received 200 or more favo[rable] votes. A two-thirds majorit[y is] required for the adoption [of] changes in eligibility rules.

Two proposals were defeat[ed by] overwhelming majorities. The [first] was to provide a secretary wh[o would] devote his full time to the w[ork.] The second was a plan wh[ereby] class "B" and class "A" sch[ools] would meet in the State final [bas]ketball tournament for the ch[am]pionship.

Registration for Tourname[nt.]

Within the next 10 days sch[ools] will be asked to register fo[r re]gional basketball tourna[ments] leading up to the State [finals] which will be played March 1[2-]14. Regional play will be in [two] classes and will end Feb. 28. [The] board of control will meet on [Jan.] 24 to determine the assignme[nt of] teams to the regions, to select regional sites and committees, to determine where the State ch[am]pionship finals will be held. [In] 1941 the "B" finals were he[ld at] the new State Teachers' [Field] House, Springfield. "A" f[inals] were played in Washington U[niver]sity Field House, St. Louis.

Representatives on the boa[rd of] control are: President, F. E. [...]ton, superintendent of schools, [Ap]pleton City; vice-president, [H.] Dieterich, principal Horace [Mann] High, Maryville; secretary, [...] Burris, principal high school, [...]ton; James F. Miller, prin[cipal] high school, Gideon; H. R. S[he]herd, vice-principal Paseo [High,] Kansas City; C. E. Potter, [prin]cipal high school, St. James; [...] H. Acuff, superintendent sch[ools,] Clarence; Clyde McConnell, s[uper]intendent schools, Ozark.

BIDDLE REPORTS ON DEPARTMENT'S WORK IN DEFENSE

Attorney General Says 'Substantial Success' Has Been Achieved, Will Be Continued.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP).—Attorney General Biddle told Congress today that his department's normal work of law enforcement had been "almost overshadowed" by special defense activities during the year ended June 30.

The Department of Justice "has achieved substantial success" which "will not be diminished in the future—however arduous may be the days that lie ahead," Biddle said in his annual report.

Summarizing the activities for the year, during which he was Attorney General, Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson praised the Federal Bureau of Investigation "technique of counterespionage" to prevent crime.

"I considered it advisable," Jackson said, "to mature our cases by full investigation rather than to break them prematurely even to protect ourselves against criticism by the uninformed for lack of activity."

He cited the case of a German spy ring, recently convicted in New York, in which the F. B. I. had operated a radio station for the spies and thus controlled the information sent to the Nazis. The spies were arrested, he said, when "no further advantage seemed to accrue from continuing the operation."

F. B. I. Operations.

The F. B. I. reported that its investigation led to a record total of 6182 convictions during the year, including 412 cases classified under defense. There were 58 convictions in that category the previous year.

F. B. I. Director J. Edgar Hoover reported that "68,368 matters pertaining to national defense" were received during the 12 months, compared with 16,885 in 1940 and an average of 35 in the five years preceding 1938.

Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney General in charge of the criminal division, reported that 31,640 complaints of alleged violations of the Selective Service Act had been received. The division closed 10,814 cases without prosecution. Convictions were obtained in 303 cases.

Arnold's Report.

Thurman Arnold, head of the anti-trust division, said that "concentration of defense contracts has aggravated" the dangers of narrowing economic control and that "the scattering of enough contracts to keep small business alive is now recognized as of paramount necessity."

He asserted that anti-trust investigations during the year "have shown that there is not an organized basic industry in the United States which has not been restricting production by some device or other in order to avoid what they call 'the ruinous overproduction after the war.'"

Arnold recalled that anti-trust investigation had uncovered German influence to restrict American production of vital materials, such as military optical instruments, tungsten carbide, aluminum, magnesium, beryllium, chemicals and drugs.

ENSIGN BRODHEAD'S LETTER TO MOTHER PUBLISHED BY NAVY

St. Louisan's Expression Declared of Interest to All Women With Sons in Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The letter written by Ensign John Brodhead Jr., U. S. N. R., to his mother, Mrs. John Brodhead Sr., 5354 Delmar boulevard, St. Louis, reassuring her of his safety and happiness in fighting "for something that is pretty real," was given wide distribution today in a Navy Department general press release. The text of the letter was first published in the Post-Dispatch Dec. 21.

The Navy Department announcement said the letter was "of interest to all mothers with sons in America's armed forces."

Ensign Brodhead is stationed at the United States naval air station, Pensacola, Fla. His brother, William, is in the Navy aeronautical organization at Norfolk, Va. Ensign Brodhead was born Dec. 6, 1917, at Springfield, Ill. He was graduated from Amherst University in 1940 and commissioned Ensign on Aug. 4, 1941.

TWO ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF POSSESSING ILLEGAL COAL

Trucker and Helper Booked Also for Lacking Permit; Former and Wife Fined Nov. 3.

Two Negroes were arrested last night and booked for possession of illegal coal and failure to have a solid fuel permit. They are Huncy Allen, 3036 Sheridan avenue, and Eddie Smith, 3036 Thomas street.

Smoke Inspector Fred H. Domke told a reporter that Allen had about two tons of Illinois coal on his truck when arrested in the 4000 block of Webster avenue. Smith was his helper.

"What got me," said Domke, "was the fact that they were selling the coal to poor people at 40 cents a basket, the price of smokeless coal." Allen and his wife, Estella, were fined $25 each Nov. 3 for selling illegal coal.

ST. LOUIS MAN LEARNS SON WAS KILLED IN AIR CRASH

James C. Screeton, Naval Radio Man, Had Written to Father Dec. 8.

Cleve Screeton, janitor in an apartment at 2249 Klemm avenue, was informed in a telegram from the Navy yesterday that his son, James C. Screeton, radio man, had been killed in an aviation crash at sea. The father received a letter, dated Dec. 8, from his son, who said he was about to leave for Honolulu from San Diego, Cal.

Young Screeton, who lived with his mother at North Little Rock, Ark., visited here frequently. The parents are divorced.

Walter G. Nowell, 25-year-old Navy machinist, suffered a fractured leg and injured hand in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, he reported in a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Nowell, 2438 Helen avenue, Brentwood. He is in a hospital at Mare Island, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jurashen Sr., Washington Park, have been notified that their son, Thomas, 17-year-old seaman, previously reported mising, died after action in the Pacific. Last Friday the parents learned another son, also reported missing, was alive and safe.

CALL TO BUY DEFENSE BONDS—'IT WILL COST MONEY TO DEFEAT JAPAN'

THE Treasury Department, in urging all Americans "to support your Government with your dollars," has issued the following statement:

"War needs money!

"It will cost money to defeat Japan. Your Government calls on you to help now.

"Buy Defense Bonds or Stamps today. Buy them every day, if you can. But buy them on a regular basis.

"Bonds cost as little as $18.75, stamps come as low as 10 cents. Defense Bonds and Stamps can be bought at all banks and post offices, and stamps can also be purchased at retail stores and through newspaper carriers."

Injured When Hit by Auto.

Frank Andrews, notions peddler, suffered a skull injury and a fractured left leg last night when struck by an automobile near his home, 1012 Chouteau avenue. The driver, Gus R. Fletcher, Negro, 2211A Cass avenue, told police Andrews walked from between two parked cars as he was driving east in Chouteau.

KILLED IN ARGUMENT OVER PAIR OF SHOES

Unidentified Man Shot in Store — Owner Held, Says He Was Knocked Down.

An argument over a pair of second-hand shoes ended in the killing of an unidentified man yesterday afternoon by Joseph Dorancricchio, owner of a shoe repair shop at 2127 Market street.

Dorancricchio and Luther Jackson, Negro porter in the shop, told police the man came in to demand a refund on the shoes which he had purchased several days ago. In the ensuing argument, they said, the man knocked both of them to the floor.

Dorancricchio got his revolver and fired one shot. It struck the man in the left side just below the ribs. He was dead on arrival at City Hospital.

In his pockets were membership cards in veterans' organizations in Joliet and Bushnell, Ill., and a card asking that H. E. Sparks of Frankfort Heights, Ill., be notified in case of accident. The membership cards bore the name Henry O. Beavers.

Dorancricchio, who lives at 3637 Garfield avenue, and Jackson, who gave the shop as his address, are held for an inquest.

Flashes of Life

Winner Loses

BEDFORD, Ind., Jan. 3.—Raymond Motzinger of Salem, in a contest, won an order on a Bedford salesroom for a new automobile. He bought 1942 license plates, sold his old car, came here on a bus, only to be told he couldn't have the new machine because of the Government's wartime bar on sales. Now Motzinger is out the cost of new plates.

Pays Debt to Red Cross

HARTFORD, Conn.—A foreign-born American citizen said, "Thank you" with a $600 gift to the American Red Cross for helping his family during a 1936 flood. He insisted that the Red Cross take the money even after officials explained that he was under no obligation to return funds given him by the organization to refurnish and repair his flood-damaged home.

Divorce, Bride and 10 Years

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia.—Ray Ward, 23 years old, had a busy day. After District Judge Charles Roe granted him a divorce from Ruth Ward on ground of desertion, Justice of the Peace Frank Larsen married him and Geraldine Albert, 19. Then Ward went back to Judge Roe's court and was sentenced to 10 years in the State Penitentiary on his plea of guilty to automobile theft.

HUGH CAMPBELL ESTATE PAYS $148,902 TO MISSOURI

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 3—A State inheritance tax of $148,902 on the estate of the late Hugh Campbell of St. Louis, was paid to the State Treasurer yesterday by executors of the estate. Hugh Campbell died Aug. 9, 1931, but payment of the tax has been delayed by extended litigation over the estate, of which Yale University was the principal beneficiary.

The appraisal filed with the State Treasurer showed a gross value of $967,300 for the estate. The net value for inheritance tax purposes, after deduction of $132,905 for obligations, taxes and administration expenses, was $834,395.

Litigation over the estate of a brother, Hazlett Campbell of St. Louis, still is pending in the courts.

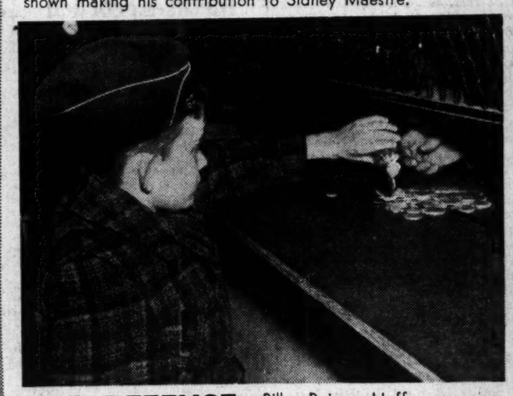
In Wake of Nazi Winter Retreat in Russia

The Soviet advance on the wintry Russian battlefront continues with Maloyaroslavets today added to the lengthening list of recaptured cities. It was at Maloyaroslavets that the Russians started Napoleon's retreat in 1812 by defeating the French invaders. The Russians report the Germans are leaving large quantities of tanks, guns and other equipment in their withdrawal before the Soviet counteroffensive. Abandoned German artillery and mechanized equipment is shown along a snow-covered road near Klin, northwest of Moscow. The picture was received by cable. —International News Photo.

DANCER AND HER COWBOY Sally Rand, the original fan dancer, rode piggy-back on her prospective husband, Thurkel Greenough, Montana cowboy, when they appeared at the marriage license bureau in Los Angeles to file their notice of intention to wed. A process server enlivened the evening by presenting them with a summons to appear in a pending suit for separate maintenance by Greenough's first wife. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Doing Their Bit

FOR RED CROSS Monroe Wexler, 10-year-old Cub Scout of 5032A Cates, saved more than four dollars in pennies to buy Christmas presents. He spent only three dollars and yesterday decided to contribute the other dollar to the Red Cross. He is shown making his contribution to Sidney Maestre.



FOR DEFENSE Billy Raines Hoffman, seven years old of 3626 Gasconade, received 22 silver dollars for Christmas and decided to invest in defense bonds. He added the savings of his toy bank to the amount and purchased two $25 bonds at the Little White House yesterday. His father is a traffic officer at Twelfth and Locust.

Work and Faith Are Invincible

By Angelo Patri

CHILDREN should be taught to pray for their souls' sake. The first prayers should be the old ones, long used and long loved by people since the dawn of Christianity. "Now I lay me"—"God bless" and the everlasting enduring standby of people of all creeds, "Our Father."

In the beginning we teach children to pray to their Heavenly Father for security. To the children, that security is physical. They want to feel safe in their beds in the darkness and, when day dawns, safe in their going and coming. Knowing that God takes care of them helps them to be courageous and live forwardly as they need to live.

As the children grow, we teach them to discover spiritual values in their lives. That means that they look for and, in time, find the spiritual values in people, in liking them and helping them, sharing with them, suffering, rejoicing, triumphing with them in true brotherly affection.

We try to teach them to discover the values of experiences in terms of the spirit rather than in material ways, and that requires much effort, for the material side of humanity is strong, especially in the young.

THE AIM OF prayer should be the security of the spirit, not the satisfaction of the body, though that comes too, with real understanding of life's values. Little children will pray for toys, privileges and pleasures and we will not gainsay them. We will try to live with them in such a fashion; we will try to educate them in such a spirit, as to lead them to the reality of the spirit and away from the material appeals of things.

We must do that gently through the years, and with understanding sympathy for the needs of the material side of their lives.

Some mothers are troubled in conscience about children's prayers for some longed for bit of enjoyable possession. When a small boy, aged somewhere between 3 and 5, prays for a scooter, the little girl for a doll carriage, is it right to gratify that desire and give God the credit?

For me, yes. Love grants the child's request and God is love, this time reflected in your affectionate action. Love has never hurt anybody and never will.

BY AND BY we come to the older child who, instead of doing his duty day by day, leaves his burden on the Lord, praying at eveningtime, "God give me a high mark in tests tomorrow."

God will not grant that prayer without the full co-operation of the pleader. Teach him the stern truth laid before us by St. Paul; Faith without works is dead. Work is the most effective kind of prayer. When the soul and the body extend themselves in effort to accomplish the deed, God grants the full result, not otherwise.

Then one might as well forget about the prayer and do the job? No, not at all. Along with the effort of the body must go the lift of the spirit, the faith that works the miracle must be steady and strong to carry the weight of the body over the hurdle of toil. Work without faith is dead too. Work and faith are invincible.

They'll Do It Every Time :-: By Jimmy Hatlo

Economical Menus

By Meta Given

ONE way to make veal taste every bit as good as chicken is to combine it with pineapple. It's surprising to people who have never tried it to learn how well the sweetness goes with the meat. Naturally cooking meat with pineapple and pineapple juice produces a sweet-flavored gravy, and that calls for serving the meat with sweet potatoes, which have a natural affinity for pineapple. Then, one thing leading to another, the sweet main dish suggests a tart vegetable, and the answer to that is spinach served with lemon juice or vinegar. Top it off with a dessert which is both tart and sweet—lemon meringue pie—and you have a Sunday dinner menu which is balanced in food value as well as in flavor. And the foundation for the menu is simply Veal Patties Hawaiian.

Veal Patties Hawaiian.

One pound ground veal, one egg, beaten, one teaspoon salt, few grains black pepper, three tablespoons fine dry breadcrumbs, three tablespoons shortening or bacon drippings, No. 1 flat tin pineapple slices, one tablespoon butter, one-eighth teaspoon allspice, one and one-half pounds sweet potatoes, boiled and peeled.

Thoroughly mix first four ingredients before shaping into four large patties. Dip patties into breadcrumbs. Heat shortening in skillet and lightly brown the drained pineapple slices before placing them in a buttered six-cup casserole. (Cut pineapple slices in half if necessary to fit well into the bottom of the casserole.) Using the same skillet brown the veal patties on both sides and place them on the pineapple slices. Add the pineapple juice (there should be one-half cup), butter and allspice to the skillet and heat to boiling, stirring to remove all residue in the skillet. Pour this over meat and pineapple. Cover and place in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes. Then slice hot boiled and peeled sweet potatoes over meat patties in casserole and bake 30 minutes longer or until thoroughly done. Serve on a hot platter with the spiced pineapple juice sauce from the bottom of the casserole. Four servings.

MENUS FOR SUNDAY.

Breakfast.

Grapefruit halves, two grapefruit, sugar; soft-cooked eggs, four eggs, salt pepper; bacon muffins, two slices bacon, two cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar, one egg, one-half cup evaporated milk, one-half cup water, two tablespoons bacon drippings, butter; apple jelly, one-third cup homemade jelly; coffee (for adults only), four tablespoons coffee; milk (for children) two cups milk.

Dinner.

Veal patties Hawaiian (see recipe above); buttered spinach, one pound fresh spinach, salt, butter, vinegar or No. 2 tin spinach; bread and butter, eight slices whole wheat bread, butter; celery and olives, one stalk celery, one small bottle olives; lemon pie, one-half tablespoon gelatine, one-half cup cold water, one cup sugar, three tablespoons lemon juice, lemon rind, dash salt, four eggs, cooled baked pie shell; coffee (for adults only), four tablespoons coffee; milk (for children), two cups milk.

Supper.

Carrot and raisin salad on lettuce, two cups grated carrots, one-half cup raisins, one-third cup dressing, lettuce; grilled ham sandwiches, eight slices enriched bread, butter, eight slices boiled ham, mustard; cocoa (for all), three tablespoons cocoa, sugar, two cups evaporated milk, two cups water, vanilla.

Four Rules For Applying Nail Polish

By Patricia Lindsay

GIVE yourself a thorough, careful manicure and you'll be rewarded by nails that remain lustrous and jewel-like for weeks. Too often the polish is blamed for chipping and peeling nails, when actually it is the method of application that is at fault. Here are some of the most common errors of a home manicure brought to our attention recently. Follow this corrective procedure:

First: The polish should be applied to a smooth surface. This means that after the old polish is removed, the cuticle should be gently pushed back from the sides and base of the nails. Little particles of cuticle will cause the polish to look lumpy and prevent it from adhering firmly.

Second: Nail polish should be applied to an absolutely clean, dry surface. Soap or oil left on the nails will cut down the wearing qualities of your polish. As a precautionary measure, after filing, cuticle treatment and other manicure steps, go over the nails once more with nail polish remover.

THIRD: GIVE YOUR polish a base. Too often the colorless base coat is omitted from the manicure as being a bother. These base coats are actually quick drying and serve an important purpose. They act as a "filler" to smooth over microscopic cracks and ridges and to give your polish something to cling to.

Fourth: Apply your nail polish one coat at a time. This means to go over the nails with a moderately filled brush. Allow the polish to dry thoroughly, then apply a second coat. If you cheat on the drying time, you will have to change the polish again in a couple of days. (The new manicure aid designed to act as a quick-drying, protective topcoat for your polish helps to eliminate frequent changing.)

Train yourself to spare your nails as much as possible, if you want them to grow to a graceful length and keep strong. Grasp things with the cushioned tip of the fingers in such a manner that the nails will not be strained. In ringing doorbells, typewriting, dialing telephones and all the everyday tasks that our fingers perform, let the fingers do the work—not the nails.

Run an emery board over the nail tips every night to keep them smooth. This prevents splitting. A tiny rough spot can easily become a jagged tear which means loss of the treasured nail!

Since the advent of liquid nail polishes, there has been myriad shades available for the fingertips. The shade you use should be your own choice—you are the one who has to wear it. However, in making a choice it is wise to consider your skin tones—just as you do in selecting rouge and lipstick. Experiment with colors on your nails. Even try mixing a distinctly personal one with the last drops left in an old bottle and a color just purchased!

Daily Food Report in St. Louis

THERE are no really economical vegetable buys on the market at the present time, the colder weather having sent all prices up. Some of the better buys in vegetables are cauliflower, spinach, celery and new cabbage.

Oranges, grapefruit, and apples—baking, cooking and eating varieties—are the most moderately priced fruits on the market.

The Doctor On Averting Pneumonia

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

WE know at present no way to give a serum which will prevent pneumonia. There are many things however, which an individual can do nowadays to avert danger and to help out in the face of possible infection with pneumonia.

One reason for the favorable results that we have been having in pneumonia is undoubtedly the fact that pneumonia is changing its type somewhat. It is not as malignant as it used to be.

The old classic lobar pneumonia has diminished progressively, but two observers found in experiments in army life that a certain number of cases of the old malignant type developed under certain circumstances. The patients were recently recruited soldiers who were of the robust, healthy laborer type who were exposed without sufficient protection to cold nights.

There is certainly a definite lesson, although a very old and familiar one. Cold and exposure to rain, snow, etc., undoubtedly have a definite bearing on the chances of catching pneumonia.

Along the same line is the pernicious doctrine which certain rugged individualists insist on spreading—that if you have a bad cold or a deep cold, you can walk it off. These are the fellows who are almost continuously in good health: the "nothing can hurt me, I know how to take care of my body—open air, exercise, snow in my face" guys. You will hear one of these hardy lumberjacks, when he has a little chilly feeling and tightness in the chest, say in a loud, convincing voice that he can get rid of this by taking a long, outdoors walk. He comes back really sick.

THE DOCTRINE OF rest for any kind of a cold or respiratory infection can not be too strongly impressed. Rest in the first few days of these infections is the best method of preventing serious complications. The only proved method of treating any form of a cold, even up to and including pneumonia, is by resting.

These ideas of prevention apply also to the treatment of pneumonia, once established. While we pay every deference to the value of the modern treatment with serum, oxygen and the bactericidal drugs, these must all be helped out by rest and good nursing care. In fact, a series of cases reported from a Massachusetts Hospital, in which patients were given the very best of nursing care and rest while serum and sulfonamide drugs were deliberately withheld, showed that the results compared very favorably to a series of cases in which serum and the sulfonamide drugs were also used.

IT IS ESPECIALLY important to apply these old-fashioned methods of rest, fresh air and nursing care to children or elderly people who have pneumonia. In these two groups, with all our modern methods of pneumonia treatment, our results have not been as good as in young or middle-aged adults.

The pneumonia patient is restless, uncomfortable and often delirious. He will throw the bed colthes off and indulge in all sorts of exertion. Watchful nursing care which reduces movement, promotes sleep, prevents exposure to cold and draughts is still the most important factor of the handling of pneumonia patients.

A sensible member of the household can be instructed to carry out most of the essentials of nursing care if, for any reason, a regular nurse is not available.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Mrs. J. B.:—"Are jellies and apple butter harmful to the teeth and health of little children?"

Answer: I should say not.

Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

How It Started

By Jean Newton

MYRIAD

"Ye sons of France, awake to glory!
Hark! Hark! What myriads bid you rise!"
The Marseilles Hymn.

Tennyson describes the law as "that codeless myriad of precedent."

Walt Whitman said, "I was thinking this globe enough, till there sprang out so noiseless around me myriads of other globes."

Coleridge, borrowing a phrase which a Greek monk had applied to a patriarch of Constantinople, referred to the great Bard as "our myriad-minded Shakespeare."

This is the classic, but figurative, usage which has come down to us from the days of ancient Attica, whence, stemming from "myrioi," 10,000, it came to be used in the sense of a very great, though indefinite number.

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I DON'T know what is the matter with me, I get the most awful fits of blues. When they come on, nothing is right and I would just as soon be dead. I seem unable to conquer them, and am poor company and my work at the office decidedly below par until the spell is over. I worry because I don't date as often as the other girls, for instance, and that gets me down. Some of the girls got a raise and I didn't. There are a dozen things I can mention which get me down and I don't seem to rise above them. I feel that my life is being ruined. What can I do to overcome this?

STELLA.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

You don't tell me your age, but if you are working in an office you should be at an age to have got past the ups and downs of adolescence. First of all, is your health up to par? A check-up by your doctor would be a good start. Then, if all is well physically, sit down and figure out what is at the bottom of all this moodiness. Are you inclined to be sorry for yourself? Self-pity is one of the chief causes of the blues—just so sorry for yourself, life has treated you shabbily, and so on, indefinitely, until you can weep over your own little self no end. You only make matters worse by brooding over real and fancied wrongs. If you don't date as often as the other girls, find out why. Are you neat and well groomed, interested in other people, can you play a good game of bridge or tennis, or dance well? Are you fun to have around or a perpetual gloom hound? If the others get raises and you don't, perhaps it's because you need to show more interest in your work. Take a look around and see how many hundreds are worse off than yourself, think about others, be sorry for others instead of sorry for yourself. You will find that if you will take a real interest in the problems of those around you, you will soon forget your own, and the blues will disappear as if by magic in a few weeks' time.

Dear Martha Carr:

I HAVE JUST moved to Missouri and have been dating a boy I met on the train. I date him only once or twice a week, as I also go out with others. I enjoy my dates with him very much. Now he wants me to go steady. Shall I? I turned down one of the other fellows on that just lately, but I told this one I would think it over. But I think I am too young to go steady. Going with a group does not particularly interest me, either, I don't know why. Mother likes this young man and wants me to go steady with him. His parents are having an "At Home" soon and as I don't know just what to do, will you please tell me. Also what to wear? SEVENTEEN.

You are right about thinking yourself too young to be going steady, and you would really enjoy an interesting group of young people if you would give it a trial. As to the parents' party, wear a "dress-up" frock and look your prettiest. Speak to the host and hostess and those in the receiving line as you go in, then have a little visit with guests you know. You may leave in about 20 minutes, or stay much longer, if you like.

Allegiance to the Flag

By Elsie Robinson

DARN ole teachers! Darn ole school! Darn ole flag! Hate 'em all!

Horrid ole Meanies. Wisht I could fix 'em for keepin' me standin' out in the hot ole yard, keepin' me waitin' until we say the silly ole words we always say each mornin' since us kids first started school.

"I plej allejunce
"Tu th' flag
"Antu th' republic
"F'rich it stan's
"One nashun invissibul
"With liburtee
"Unjustis f'rall."

Golly gosh-goodness. There, that's done! Now I can go and pick my gum offen from under my desk.

At which point, let me assure you that the foregoing remarks are not a current statement. To be exact, they date back some 50 years to a little girl, standing in line in a hot school yard, rebelliously saluting the flag of her country. I was the little girl, and I felt exactly what I said. It is true, I hadn't the slightest notion what that "plej of allejunce" meant. Nor, contrary to sentimental tradition, did my heart throb a smidge harder as I gazed at those red, white and blue folds. All I wanted was to get my gum.

Which, I suspect, is what most of us feel about our flag at eight—and for many a year after. It's a nice decoration. It makes wonderful shivers run down our backs when it passes in a parade. And, as we grow old, it's a mighty convenient aid and protection in filling the old pocketbook or obtaining special privilege. But otherwise it's just something we have around.

Then, some quiet Sunday, a bomb bursts over Honolulu. And the whole world rocks in shock and pity and rage. And, across the long trail of years, there comes the sound of a child's voice stumbling over meaningless words. Only they are not meaningless now. There is blood on those words! There are tears on those stars!

And our hearts, kneeling, cry a great oath that echoes to the heaven:

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the country for which it stands. And here this day I offer all I am and have for their protection. So help me God!"

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

SUNDAY, JAN. 4.

GOOD for sober planning today; also for taking whatever relaxation is needed. Avoid late evening misunderstandings in emotional department. Week ahead warns against errors of judgment and taking minor disappointments too hard; be wary.

Parallels.

More and more thinking people are taking astrology more seriously than ever before, because evidence is now in the record that astrology has long foreseen the present conditions in which mankind finds itself. Investigations are being made of the relationship between the historic pattern and the planetary pattern that accompanies it; and thousands of perfect parallels are being found.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if birthday is today shows benefit through developing, offering, your latent skills, talents; and through co-operation with inferiors. From July seek partners; from Aug. watch health. Danger May 3-19; Sept. 30-Oct. 8.

MONDAY, JAN. 5.

Today's psychological weather is rather stormy and the good sailor will stay close to shore. Avoid emotional pitfalls in a. m.; worry not and detour impulse in p. m. Evening hours improve for constructive imagination, invention.

A Difference.

As with the individual, so it is with the entire race. There is an old story being told about a burglar in jail who is visited by a social worker. "And have you meditated on your past errors and resolved to do better in the future?" she asked. "You bet! And the next job I do, this baby is gonna wear gloves!" Trying to get away with bad practices is not the same as being good.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if today is your anniversary, stresses attention to building reserve vitality, good health tests from September. From July partners, allies, will help with limitations. Danger: May 6-20; Oct. 2-10.

Social Usage

By Emily Post

KNOWING of the urgent plea made for knitted garments by the Red Cross and other organizations, I do not want to give the impression that knitting is not entirely proper at all times and places. And yet, because of many readers who ask me why I never say a word in protest against knitting marathons carried beyond the limits of good reason, I do thing it is perhaps necessary to give some idea of what might be considered reasonable.

It would surely be reasonable to expect knitters to follow the rules that are observed by courteous smokers in the houses of non-smokers, which is to ask, "Do you mind if I knit?" If one is merely sitting in a general group, one person's knitting hardly could be annoying to anyone. But when one is having a short conversation—especially with a visitor in one's own house—one should not knit.

But since the reason why knitting is considered by many to be rude is that it distracts the knitter's attention, the important question to ask is how much attention one has to pay to one's stitches. The many who can read and knit can be supposed to be able to talk and listen and knit! Every now and then I get protests from lecturers who greatly mind the disturbing motions made by the countless needles of a kitting audience.

But since the one very best opportunity to knit or to crochet is while listening to a lecturer or to music or to someone reading, a nervous lecturer, it seems to me, must make his own request for "quiet hands." He does this moreover, at the risk of exchanging an appreciable number of busy hands for vacant seats.

Why Declarer Should Discard His Spade Ace

By Ely Culbertson

TO discard a loser is a joy and delight to the average player, but to discard a winner seems to go directly against his grain. Yet, in many situations it is just as vital to get rid of an ace as it is to discard a deuce at another time. Note today's hand:

East, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

♠ K 6 4 2
♥ A 10 8
♦ 10 5 2
♣ Q 8 7

♥ QJ 9 7 6 3
♣ 9 6 5 4

SOUTH

♠ QJ 10 8 7 3
♥ K 5 4 2
♦ A
♣ A 3

♠ A 5
♥ None
♦ K Q J 9 8 6 4
♣ K J 10 2

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	3 diamonds	Pass	3 no trump
Pass	4 diamonds	Pass	5 diamonds
Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the spade nine. Declarer, evidently a frugal soul, let this ride to his own ace, then with a pitiful attempt at deception led out the trump jack. The attempt was wasted, because East had to win with the singleton ace. East then laid down the club ace to see what signal card West would play. When West denied the king by playing low, East properly reasoned that a spade return was the best possible; hence led the spade queen. West ruffed with a deep sigh of relief.

I wonder whether the declarer ever awoke to the fact that he had thrown away his contract by overlooking an absurdly simple safety play. Surely he should have been alive to the possibility that the spade nine lead was a singleton, and to recognize the danger would have been tantamount to avoiding it. The correct play (which I am sure all of my readers have already discovered) was to put up dummy's spade king on the first trick, then to cash the heart ace so that South's spade ace could be promptly discarded. Now, with the danger of a spade ruff obviated, declarer, of course, should start to take out trumps. East would win the first lead and return a spade, but now declarer would be prepared; he would ruff in with a high trump, draw West's trump seven, and then concede the club ace.

A safety play as simple as this never should be overlooked.

BRITISH CONVOY IN 5-DAY FIGHT SINKS 3 U-BOATS; FOUR SHIPS LOS

Destroyer, Auxiliary, Tw Merchantmen Sent t Bottom — Two Na Bombers Down — Sub marine Crews Seized.

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—Britai told the story today of this wi ter's first big engagement in th Battle of the Atlantic — how th Royal Navy brought a great co voy to port more than 90 per ce intact after sinking at least thre Nazi U-boats in a five-day figh

The convoy's protectors lo H. M. S. Stanley, which was th former United States destroye McCalla, and an auxiliary catapu warship which was converted fro the former German merchantma Hannover, captured in 1940.

The Admiralty disclosed als that the 7175-ton British cruise Neptune and the 1600-ton destroy er Kandahar had been destroye in a Mediterranean minefield.

Thus the British acknowledge the sinking of four of their wa ships.

Only Two Cargo Ships Lost.

Of the convoy's more than 30 merchantmen, two, totaling 6193 tons, were sunk in the Atlantic battle.

In addition to the three sub marines known to have been sun in the convoy fight — prisoner were taken from each—two Ge man Focke-Wulf bombers wer destroyed and another was ser ously damaged. The Admiralt said also that American-made Lib erator (Consolidated) bombers o the British coastal comman joined the naval escort in the la of its counterattacks, during whic more U-boats may have bee sunk.

The converted auxiliary whic was lost had been renamed th Audacity. The Germans, in re porting its destruction the day be fore Christmas, first referred to as a 23,000-ton aircraft carrie then as the 14,500-ton naval a supply ship Unicorn.

Germans Claimed 9 Ships.

The Admiralty, recalling tha the Germans claimed that nin merchant ships totaling 37,000 ton were sunk from the convoy, re marked that this was better than 600 per cent exaggeration.

Its communique began with th sentence: "Week after week ou convoys continue to arrive, bring ing vital supplies to our shores."
